U. S. Warned To Stop Reds Or Face 'World Revolution'

House Group Speaks As ERP Debate Begins

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—(UP)—A House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee Sunday called on the United States to take the lead in fencing off Communist Russia from the non-Communist world or face "violent" global revolution.

The committee issued a long report, "the Strategy and Tactics of World Communism," as Senate President Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, prepared to open Congressional debate on the Marshall European Recovery Plan.

It added up to one of the most stinging denunciations of Red philosophy and objectives ever handed out by an arm of the Federal Government, and drew these "simple conclusions of Soviet policy":

"(1) The Communists have one goal—world revolution. (2) They assume that the revolution will be violent. (3) They are incapable of accepting the idea that peace can endure from now on, and they expect one more catastrophic war."

The report warned Americans they are playing with "loaded dice" when they join "ultra-Democratic groups" used by Communists to advance their ends. Communists, it added, have infiltrated labor groups, organizations boosting civil rights and clean-politics movements and "liberal groups of all kinds."

The Committee is headed by Rep. Frances P. Bolton, Republican, Ohio, and its report came on the one hundredth anniversary of "the Communist Manifesto," the touchstone of Soviet policy.

Its antidote for World Communism is an all-out effort to establish an economically strong non-Communist bloc headed by the United States and including Western Europe, China, the Near East and the Western Hemisphere.

Vandenberg is expected to take a similar tack when he formally places the 51-month, $5,300,000,000 ERP program before the Senate Monday. He hopes the Senate can vote on the plan by March 15. He said that quick action is even more urgent in view of the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia and Russian pressure on Finland.

After the recovery program is disposed of Vandenberg's Senate Foreign Relations Committee will begin hearings on President Truman's new requests for $275,000,000 for military aid to Greece and Turkey and $570,000,000 for China.

The House Committee report carried sections titled "A Specter Is Haunting Europe," "The Theory and Practice of Communism," etc., to illustrate its claim that Americans have been duped by "temporary lulls in Communist aggressions. The Committee accompanied its report with a list of 49 official U. S. protests against Communist policies and actions since V-E Day.

Soviet opportunists, it said, have followed a zigzag course in world affairs simply to advance their aim of world revolution.

Palestine Blasts Kill 28 Britons

JERUSALEM, Feb. 29—(UP)—Twenty-eight British soldiers were killed and 33 were injured Sunday when three coaches of the Cairo-Haifa Express were blown up by electrically detonated mines in Eastern Palestine.

Nine Jews died in other Holy Land violence, bringing the day's death toll to at least 37.

British troops began a thorough "screening" campaign in the train explosion area in an effort to find those responsible. Police suspected Jews of setting off the explosion in reprisal for last Sunday's Ben Yehuda Street bombing in which at least 51 persons were killed.

Eliezer Perelson, Acting Mayor of the all-Jewish community of Tel-Aviv, told a meeting of the Municipal Council that whoever set the train blast was "besmirching the Jewish name while the people's fate is in the balance."

After the Ben Yehuda Street explosion, which occurred at exactly the same hour last Sunday, Jews claimed the British were responsible, but the Arabs said their "Commandos" did the job.

The train explosion Sunday occurred near Rehovoth, a citrus township on the Cairo-Haifa rail line in Eastern Palestine. The saboteurs placed four 100-pound charges between the rails so that one would explode under each of four troop-carrying coaches. Three of the charges went off, but the fourth failed to explode.

The soldiers aboard the train were on their way back to Palestine after spending their leave in Britain.

Electric wires had been strung from the scene of the blast into near-by orange groves. British troops moved quickly to search the entire area. A house-to-house investigation was under way in Rehovoth.

All three of the military coaches were wrecked by the explosions. Fragments of wood littered a wide area. The tracks were torn up for hundreds of yards.

Bodies were scattered amid the wreckage.

A Red Cross unit joined hundreds of soldiers and Haganah scouts in treating the injured.

The blast came just after the train pulled out of the Rehovoth station. It had moved less than a mile down the track when the mines let go.

The Haganah scouts were first to reach the scene. They started pulling the dead and injured from the shattered cars. The Red Cross came later.

The train was on its regular run from Cairo to Haifa.

Lt. Gen. G. H. A. MacMillan, Commander of the Palestine Army, visited the scene of the disaster late Sunday.

Troop concentrations were reported moving toward Tel Aviv.

Telephone connections with Rehovoth were cut.

3,000-FOOT PLUNGE

Passenger Dies in Plane Leap

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 29—(UP) Robert Strand, 28-year-old war veteran and former religious seminary student, leaped to his death Sunday from an airplane 3,000 feet above the San Fernando Valley.

The young university graduate from San Francisco hired William Probert, co-owner of a private airfield, with Movie Actor Andy Devine, to take him for a ride.

"He kept wanting me to climb to 5,000 feet," Probert said. "He said he'd never been that high before. Then he opened the door and tried to jump out."

Probert tried to stop him and they struggled for "what seemed like hours" but actually was just a few seconds before the pilot had to grasp the controls, thereby enabling Strand to jump.

His body was found hours later in a cultivated field. A Bible lay near by, and there were some religious pamphlets in the coat pocket.

Strand's father, Thore, of San Francisco, blamed "war shell shock" for his son's suicide.

"My son was with Patton's armored divisions in Germany," the father, a building contractor, said. "He served for three years and has been out three years. I have been trying to get him in a veterans' hospital because of his condition."

Probert said the youth had tried to get an open-cockpit plane for his flight but that none of the 23 at his field were of that type. Strand then borrowed a piece of paper to write a note, later found in his wallet, and they got in the plane and took off.

A wallet apparently fell from Strand's pocket during the fight. It contained a note asking police "not to hold the pilot responsible."

A 100-man posse hunted through the brush-covered San Fernando Valley for nearly five hours before finding the body. It lay in a plowed field.

Former Emperor of the Japanese puppet state of Manchoukuo, he is in Russian custody but his wife and two children have been living in seclusion in Peiping.

LIBERTY SHIP WITH WHEAT CARGO IS ABLAZE IN INDIAN OCEAN

SYDNEY, Australia, Monday, March 1—(UP)—The Liberty Ship Cecil G. Sellars is ablaze in the Indian Ocean, 1,500 miles west of Fremantle, Australia, and may have to be abandoned, the Gibbs Bright Company, of Sydney, reported today.

The Sellars, operated by Sword Line, Inc., of New York City, was en route from Fremantle to France with a cargo of 9,300 tons of wheat.

'Draft Marshall' Drive Urged by S. C. Solon

International News Service

Sen. Johnston, of South Carolina, proposed Sunday night that the rebellious South lead a movement at the Democratic National Convention to "draft" Secretary of State Marshall as the Party's November standard bearer, and another prominent Democratic Senator predicted Mr. Truman would not be renominated.

At the same time Sen. Stennis, of Mississippi, defied Mr. Truman to attempt a rumored election-year purge of Southern Congressmen leading the fight against Truman's civil rights proposals.

Johnston, a deep-voiced leader of the Southern revolt against the President's rights program, made his statement at Columbia, S. C., where he is attending the meeting of the South Carolina State Democratic Executive Committee. He did not pass upon the President's chances to win a term of his own in the White House.

Sec. Marshall has made it clear that he could "never be drafted" for any political office.

Meantime Sen. Taft, Republican, Ohio, jolted Southern Senators' hopes of killing Mr. Truman's proposals by a filibuster in the Senate. Taft, Chairman of the powerful GOP Policy Committee, said he always had opposed filibusters. His attitude on a gag-rule passage is regarded as crucial.

Taft Sunday predicted an "easy" Republican victory in the November elections because of the "disruption" of the Democratic Party by the Third Party move and the threatened revolt of Southern Democrats.

He is confident, he said, that the Henry A. Wallace Third Party, "taking with it the Communist and left-wing vote," and the civil rights uprising against President Truman in the Southern States would weaken the Democrats "progressively" as the campaign wears on.

Stennis' challenge came amid rumors that "a few left-wing advisers" of the Democratic high command are urging Mr. Truman to "at least speak out" against re-election of Southerners who have threatened a protest bolt of the party.

Southern Senators up for re-election in November are Eastland, Mississippi; Ellender, Louisiana; McClellan, Arkansas; Maybank, South Carolina; O'Daniel, Texas; Russell, Georgia; Sparkman, Alabama; Stewart, Tennessee, and Umstead, N. C. The entire House must stand for re-election.

Mr. Truman was reported to be giving "little if any" consideration to the "purge" proposals.

Political observers said that the President undoubtedly has in mind the smashing setback suffered by the late President Roosevelt in his political heyday when he tried to bring about the defeat of Sen. George, Democrat, Georgia, and other legislators who opposed his legislation, including his Supreme Court enlargement bill.

The Southern Senator who predicted the President would be bypassed by his own party asked that his name not be used. But he said he had learned from "high sources" that New York Democratic leaders "want another candidate."

This source said that Gen. Marshall, Gen. Eisenhower, and Sens. Byrd, Democrat, Virginia; George, Democrat, Georgia, and Hoey, Democrat, North Carolina, were among those most frequently "talked about" as alternatives to Mr. Truman.

Republicans in both houses went ahead with plans to keep the Southern Democrats boiling by pushing the President's racial rights program to the enactment stage.

Alabama Democrats are studying a secession plan of their own, under which Southerners would walk out of the Democratic National Convention.

Texas Democrats urged at Dallas that dissident Southern States be held in the party fold by giving them a greater voice in choosing standard bearers and in shaping policy.

Finn President Said Favoring Pact As Underground Lashes at Reds

HELSINKI, Monday, March 1—(AP)—Finnish President Juho Paasikivi today was reported in favor of signing a friendship pact with Russia even as an anti-Soviet "underground" distributed leaflets throughout the capital calling Finnish patriots to action.

The 78-year-old president was believed to feel a negative reply to the Soviet request would cause dangerous aggravation in Russian-Finnish relations. He also was believed to feel that an affirmative reply could mean that Finland might obtain as favorable conditions as possible for her continued national independence.

But anti-Soviet feeling began crystalizing as leaflets flooded Helsinki warning Stalin had pledged that the "Finns shall be exterminated."

NEW YORK, Feb. 29—(AP)—The Voice of America will begin Monday a new 15-minute broadcast of news and news analysis to Czechoslovakia. The announcement by the State Department said the decision to increase from 45 minutes to one hour the broadcasts beamed at Czechoslovakia was based on "recent developments" in that country. The new program will be broadcast from New York by short wave at 11 a. m.

"We are now independent in name only," the leaflets said. "Our vitally important concern is being decided in Moscow. It is time to put an end to this underhand game. The fate the Estonians suffered awaits all Finns sooner or later."

Paasikivi's strong position in his own country was tested when, in a pre-election proclamation in 1945, he declared that anti-Russian candidates should disappear from the election tickets. This was done.

Observers said today many right-wing members of Finland's Conservative, Agrarian, Social Democratic and Progressive Parties might vote against the friendship pact in order to save face as long as there is no risk of the pact proposal being rejected.

Strong feeling for America by the Finns in general was demonstrated Sunday when thousands of admiring Finns mobbed John Werket, of the University of Minnesota, after he was nosed out by Norway's Odd Lumdbert in the world championship speed skating matches.

Hitler Women's Leader Seized After 2-Yr. Hunt

FRANKFURT, Feb. 29—(INS)—American Intelligence agents and French and German police Sunday ended successfully a two-year search for Frau Gertrud Scholtz-Kling Heizmeier, Adolf Hitler's women's leader. She was arrested at Beppenhausen, near Stuttgart.

Originally she had been declared dead, supposedly one of those who had died with Hitler in his Berlin bunker in the final days of the war.

Arrested with her was her husband, former SS Gen. Werner Heizmeier.

Both had been "denazified" under the assumed name of Stukenbrook. They were found living in the servants' quarters of the Beppenhausen Castle. A quantity of jewels was found in their possession.

The couple had earned a living by working at a lamp shade factory. Heizmeier had a poison vial in his possession. He is wanted by the French as a convicted war criminal under death sentence.

Frau Heizmeier, who will be turned over to U. S. authorities, said she and her husband left Hitler's Berlin bunker in "critical days" before Hitler died.

In denying reports that she had been among the last Nazi officials with Hitler at the time of his death, Frau Heizmeier said she was captured by the Russians in the Berlin fighting, without being recognized.

She told authorities that she and her husband were released two years ago by the Russians, and they were given a place to live by 77-year-old Countess Von Wied.

That she was alive was learned two years ago when a former acquaintance recognized her and notified police.

March Enters Minus Roar

March will change its traditional roar to a mild pant as it breezes into Atlanta today on the wings of balmy, if slightly cooler, weather. There will be some cloudiness, however, the Weather Bureau said.

Atlanta will get a temperature range between 46 and 65 degrees, which will be a far cry from the bitter cold wave, blizzards and floods gripping other parts of the nation and now moving into the Middle Atlantic Coast region. Only mild "tail-end" effects of the cold blast will be noticed here later in the week. Prospects of rain are seen for Tuesday.

Meanwhile, beleagured residents of the North Central States Sunday began digging out from beneath the Winter's heaviest snowfall, which blocked highways and isolated rural communities. At the same time, floods covered hundreds of thousands of acres in Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Iowa and Ohio.

Strike Silences Italian Stations

ROME, Feb. 29—(AP)—A strike caused Italian radio stations to go silent Sunday.

Radio workers are seeking a collective contract covering such benefits as salary increases, dismissal pay and equal pay for men and women.

Directors of Italy's nation-wide radio stations have issued a statement saying it is impossible to accede to the workers' demands.

They said the strikers are asking for wage increases totaling 500,000,000 liras (approximately $800,000).

Reynolds Starts Hop to China In Search of World's Highest Peak

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Feb. 29 (AP)—Buffeted by snowstorms over some of the Western States, pen manufacturer Milton Reynolds China-bound plane landed here Sunday night from Chicago.

Reynolds and a group of scientists who plan to search for a mountain higher than the 29,000-foot Mt. Everest, were to go on to Oakland later and leave Monday for Honolulu.

The party, which includes Mrs. Reynolds and their two children, is flying a specially-equipped four-engine C-87. The itinerary includes Wake, Okinawa, Tokyo and Shanghai. Mrs. Reynolds and the children will stop in Honolulu and await the return of the plane from China.

The expedition plans to map and measure the Amne Machin Mountains of Tsinghai province in Northwestern China. Reynolds said he believes the range has several of the highest peaks in the world, but it has never been explored thoroughly because it is virtually inaccessible.

The mapping and exploration will be done from the plane with scientific equipment, including cameras, altimeters, thermometers, barometers and radar.

Pilot of the expedition is William P. Odom, who last year flew Reynolds around the world in 78 hours and 55 minutes for a speed record, then made the flight solo in 73 hours and five minutes.

Other members of the crew are Carroll "Tex" Sallee, who made the globe-circling speed flight with Reynolds and Odom as flight engineer, and Ed Lear, Grand Rapids, Mich., who will be radio operator on the China exploration.

Other members of the expedition include Bradford Washburn, of the Boston Museum of Science; Walter McKay, aeronautical engineering professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Richard P. Goldthwait, Geology Department Professor at Ohio State University, and Julian Levi, Chicago attorney, who will be historian.

Maj. Jack T. Young, aide to Secretary of State Marshall while he was in China as a special envoy last year, is also in the party.

ALL THE WORLD'S A STAGE

And Here Is What Came Upon It

Just Looking for Goldilocks, Maybe

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 29—(AP)—Three bears went on a spree here Sunday and chased three policemen and about 60 men, women and children all over Palm Island.

The big, brown shaggy bears from Finland were brought here Saturday night by John Welde, of Norway, to appear at a night club.

While Welde was away, some youngsters opened the cage door. The bears headed for Biscayne Bay, where they frolicked in the water for about 45 minutes.

Jay Marden, 11, called police and Patrolman John Ward and two other officers responded.

By this time the bears had returned to the island and were playfully chasing the crowd of men, women and children all over the place.

They even chased Ward back into his patrol car.

Joseph Ebner, night club property manager, tried to shoo one of the bears into the cage. The bear grabbed Ebner by the seat of the pants.

Ward then shot the bear in the nose. The bear let go, apparently not as badly hurt as Ebner was scared.

Connie Welde, the trainer's daughter, ran to get her father and he quickly coaxed the bears back into their cage.

'Scent' Not Enough for Ferry Fare

YONKERS, N. Y.—(AP)—The ferryboat John J. Walch, of the Yonkers-Alpine line, chugged off three minutes ahead of schedule because Skipper Russell Peterson scented trouble.

As his vessel idled at Alpine, N. J., Peterson saw a skunk on the dock making for the boat. Since no passengers or vehicles were approaching the boat, Peterson signalled for a hurried take-off, just beating the polecat by a nose.

She Didn't Know the War Was Over

CHICAGO—(AP)—Anthony Stacy, 48, complained to police that Marie Bochantine, 33, a waitress, serves pie like a tennis professional.

Stacy signed an assault charge against Mrs. Bochantine.

"I walked into the restaurant and ordered pineapple pie. But she threw it at me as though I were across the street," Stacy told police. "The plate broke on the counter and cut my face."

In the women's lockup, Mrs. Bochantine said: "I just got fed up with irritable customers."

Police Get Delivery Service

GALESBURG, Ill.—(INS)—A 27-year-old man tarried in a Galesburg cell because he insisted on chasing a love rival into a police station.

Police seized Harold F. Smith as he pursued R. L. Bone into the station.

Bone complained that Smith tried to wreck his automobile because Bone was riding with Smith's former wife.

Bone asserted he had to go directly to the police for protection as Smith, driving another car, tried several more times to force him from the highway.

Police held Smith on an intoxication charge.

How can any capable (or otherwise) saleslady expect a person to walk into a shop and decide immediately what he or she wants? Is there a law against a customer "browsing" through a store and a law that states a clerk must follow step by step behind the customer?

I should like to see one store that has a mutual agreement in that the clerk is glad to help if the customer is sure of what he wants and if he desires help. Otherwise could we just more or less "just look around"?

MacArthur Courting of Nomination Seen in Praise of GOP 'Freedom'

By LEE NICHOLS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—(UP) Gen. MacArthur said Sunday that the Republican Party is the champion of "personal freedom and individual responsibility," and has never departed from the theory that "all political power resides in the people."

The Supreme Allied Commander made the statement in a letter to the Republican National Committee, which solicited it, congratulating it on opening a drive to set up Young Republican Clubs on college campuses.

MacArthur supporters here immediately hailed the statement as further supporting their belief that the General is interested in the Republican presidential nomination.

Rep. A. L. Miller, Republican, Nebraska, an original MacArthur-for-President booster, called the statement a "masterpiece in typical MacArthur style." He said it would "dispel any doubts" the General is a Republican, and "I know" he will accept the GOP nomination if it is offered to him.

Miller added that if MacArthur does not return to the United States before the Republican National Convention in June, the General will make it clear in "several well-worded statements" that he is ready to run if asked.

Thus far MacArthur has avoided any direct commitment, although his name has been entered in the Nebraska and Wisconsin presidential primaries.

The Young Republican drive was announced by Ralph E. Becker, Port Chester, N. Y., attorney, Chairman of the Young Republican National Federation.

He said one of the main purposes is "to combat Communism by providing college students with a truly American organization through which to express their opinions on the social, economic and political problems of the day."

WASHINGTON Feb. 29—(AP)—Associates said Sunday that Sen. Vandenberg, Republican, Mich., has quit trying to keep his name off the ballot in the April 13 Nebraska Presidential primary.

Vandenberg's decision was reported to have been based on friends' advice that court action would be necessary to prevent the listing of his name.

Collision With U. S. Seen In More Red Expansions

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—(AP)—Russia has now expanded its control over European nations about as far as it can without colliding directly with the officially declared interests of the United States.

In this fact lie the answers to two questions generated by the Communist seizure of power in Czechoslovakia and the developing crisis in Finland.

1. Why have the United States, Britain and France, alarmed as they are over the fate of Czechoslovakia, done no more than protest?

2. Why should there be more concern in the Western Nations over what Russia may do next than over what the Communists have already accomplished?

Despite their modern ties with the West and their historic traditions of political freedom, both Finland and Czechoslovakia have been regarded since the closing months of the war as lying within the Soviet sphere of influence.

American policy in Europe during this period has recognized the right of Russia to have "friendly governments" along her European frontier. The steady series of moves by which the Soviets have reduced those friendly governments to controlled governments through the medium of Communism has been protested from the very first. But real American power has not been brought to bear at any point inside the Russian orbit.

Such power has been deployed instead on the western side of the line dividing Europe. It has been expressed in terms of British and American troops in Germany, Austria and the Free Territory of Trieste lying between Italy and Yugoslavia.

It has also been expressed in the Marshall Plan for European recovery—which is an effort to restore the strength of Britain, France and Italy so they will be able to withstand Communism.

In addition, the Truman Doctrine of American help to Greece and Turkey has committed the United States to limited military support of the middle eastern bulwark. Farther to the east the United States has made general promises of support to a non-Communist Iran. To the west, President Truman has assured Italy that this country would not stand by and see Italy threatened.

As political strategists here look at the possibilities, there are three major moves the Soviets might undertake next which would bring them into more direct conflict with the Western Powers. These moves are:

1. An effort to turn Norway and Sweden into Communistic satellites. Their geography makes them of tremendous strategic interest to the Western Powers as well as Russia.

2. A new effort to break through the Iranian-Turkish-Greek barrier and achieve a position on the Mediterranean side of the Dardanelles.

3. A new attempt to push through, or to outflank, the Anglo-American-French line in Germany and Austria and gain Communist control in France and Italy.

Among these possibilities most concern is felt by officials here now over an expected Communist campaign in Italy in the weeks immediately ahead. Its position would make it, in the opinion of American strategists, an ideal place from which the Communists could seek to move into France and to render impossible American support for Greece and Turkey.

In relation to Austria, American officials are watching closely any Soviet moves to speed up completion of an Austrian independence treaty in negotiations now under way in London.

Civic Leaders Favor U. S. Housing Aid

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—(AP)—A big majority of governors, mayors and other civic leaders who replied to a survey, favor a federally aided public housing program, Sen. Wagner, Democrat, New York, said Sunday.

The New Yorker handed the House-Senate Housing Committee a report saying that questionnaires went out to some 500 individuals. Of the 230 of these leaders who replied, Wagner said, 206 of them agreed that:

"Private industry cannot in the foreseeable future provide either new or used housing of adequate quality to meet the needs of low-income families at the rent or costs they can afford to pay."

Wagner told the Committee his report is based on replies from 29 governors, 82 mayors representing 42 percent of the nation's city population, and 133 leaders in home building, real estate, labor, journalism, education, religion and other fields.

Wagner is cosponsor of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner long-range housing bill which has been on the Senate calendar nearly a year. Among other things, it provides for Government-owned and operated public housing to supplement private construction.

The housing industry in general has assailed this provision. Wagner, in his report, said he still feels it is necessary.

Meanwhile the National Veterans' Housing Conference opened a two-day session here. The home-seeking veterans got a message from President Truman last night saying he hopes they can "stimulate a dilatory Congress into action" on housing.

GRANDMOTHER MARRIES 3D TIME

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 29 (AP)—A 68 - year - old great-grandmother and her 72-year-old husband were honeymooning at home Sunday after a wedding attended by 58 grandcildren and great-grandchildren.

Twice-widowed Mrs. Jessie Picket and Alfred Wesseldine, a retired carpenter, were married in Irondequoit Presbyterian Church.

Nearly 100 members of the two families were present. Mrs. Picket said her 39 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren took care of all the wedding details down to the frilly pink hat she wore.

Four Drown As Car Drops Into Canal

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Feb. 29 — (AP) — Four persons were drowned Sunday when their automobile dropped into an abandoned canal at near-by Humberstone.

Humberstone police said two others were believed lost. The automobile plunged into the water from a dead-end street.

The old waterway serves as a feeder for the Willard Ship Canal.

The dead were identified as William D. Rogers, 45; Frances Gerner, 36, and Mrs. Violet Keeler, 38, all of Welland, Ont., and Arthur Morningstar, 38, of Crowland, Ont.

Police have been unable to find another couple reported seen with the party shortly before the accident.

Steel Firms Face New U. S. Probe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—(AP)—A Federal agency prepared Sunday to dig further into charges of price fixing in steel, and on Capitol Hill new criticism was hurled at the industry.

These were the developments:

1. The Federal Trade Commission summoned 12 steel company presidents and one vice president as witnesses in its charges filed last August that 101 producers conspired on prices and to restrain competition. They will appear here March 8.

2. Sen. O'Mahoney, Democrat, Wyoming, asserted he has "conclusive evidence" that the steel industry has placed a dozen price increases into effect since Jan. 1.

The FTC conspiracy complaint has been overshadowed by a recent price boost of $5 a ton in semi-finished steel, which prompted a separate investigation launched last week by President Truman. Critics express fear for living costs in general. Steel men defend the higher price as justified by expenses.

The Justice Department, which sent FBI agents into 16 steel company offices last Tuesday, has not reported whether it found evidence of antitrust violations in the new nationwide inquiry.

Congress Tuesday gets under way its own hearing into the price boost.

The Joint Economic Committee, headed by Sen. Taft, Republican, Ohio, has asked representatives of United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel and Allegheny Ludlum Steel to testify.

In the FTC case next week, subpoenas summoning the 13 steel men as witnesses require them to bring price records from 1935 to 1947. They will appear before an FTC examiner.

Defeat Communism Or Lose Vote, Italy Told

ROME, Italy, Monday, March 1—(UP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi told 20,000 of his Catholic Party followers Sunday that Communism must be defeated in the general elections in April or "we will not vote again in Italy."

De Gasperi made his speech, his strongest anti-Communist attack of the election campaign, a few hours after all radios in Italy were silenced when 3,000 studio technicians struck on orders of the Communist-dominated Chamber of Labor. They sought to enforce demands for 14 months' pay for every 12 months worked.

He denounced Italian Communists for building up action squads such as those which supported the coup in Czechoslovakia. Events in Prague, he added, "confirmed the danger we fear."

"But we see that what happens is not in a single center, not in a single region, but in all regions, in all the country and in other countries, and I ask today if I sounded the alarm here uselessly," De Gasperi said at a Christian Democratic Party rally in Ancona.

"This time it is necessary to win or we will not vote again in Italy. It is necessary that the people rise up. This is the supreme hour. You will never again pass through a more historic one than the one in which you live today."

The Premier criticized Communist Boss Palmiro Togliatti for having protested that an earlier De Gasperi speech was warlike. De Gasperi answered by citing Czechoslovakia as proof of his charges against Italy's Communists.

Czechoslovakia proves that a Communist alliance with other parties only means the "installation of the regime of a single party," he said.

Minister of Defense Cipriano Facchinetti meanwhile warned members of the armed forces that no political agitation will be permitted in military establishments during the election campaign.

Mail Box Vandals Hunted Near Doraville

Vandals who "set off firecrackers in mail boxes, knocked over the boxes with cars and in some cases just carried away the mail receptacles entirely" are being hunted by inspectors of the Post Office Department in the vicinity of Doraville.

A spokesman said numerous complaints had been received on the damaging and destruction of rural mail boxes near Doraville, prompting an investigation by inspectors.

"Damaging or destroying mail boxes is just as serious an offense as breaking into a post office," the official said. "It's possible the youngsters don't know this. We hope that they can be warned in time so arrests won't become necessary.

"If we do have to make an arrest, however," he said, "we will make an example of the case."

Solon Hurls Pro-Red Charges At Stars and Stripes Europe Edition

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—(UP) Rep. John McDowell, Republican, Pennsylvania, said Sunday the House Committee on Un-American Activities may consider charges that the European edition of Stars and Stripes is printing Communist propaganda.

The charges were made in a House speech by Rep. George A. Dondero, Republican, Michigan. He said the Army paper carries stories that are "pro-Soviet, pro-Communist and anti-American."

McDowell, a member of the un-American Activities group, said he will go over with Dondero in the next day or two evidence on which he based his complaint.

"If the charge appears to hold water I will put it before the Committee for an investigation." McDowell said.

He added that most of the Stars and Stripes personnel he had known appeared "good, honest, hard-working newspapermen — no different from those in the House press gallery."

The Army Department has cabled an account of Dondero's accusation to Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American occupation commander in Germany.

The service newspaper is under Clay's jurisdiction. It identifies itself as the "unofficial publication of the United States occupation forces in Europe." Another edition is published in Tokyo.

Dondero said he had studied four copies of the service paper. In them he said he found stories that make grist for the Communist mill, or afford valuable intelligence information to the Russians.

He read to the House samples of the material to which he objected.

"It will be said that most of these stories are press association dispatches for which the staff of Stars and Stripes is not responsible," he said. "The question is, however, why were they selected and by whom and why was not a reply of some kind added."

One story carried a CIO criticism of President Truman's Commission on Universal Training, he said. The views of the Commission were not presented, he asserted.

Dondero continued:

"On page two of the same issue we find a cartoon by Bill Mauldin showing a drunken American speaking to a youngster as follows: 'You kids are the only hope for a shick soshiety.'

"What grist this makes for the Communist propaganda mill!"

Dondero objected to stories which he said were favorable to several persons in the occupation zone whom he had criticized earlier as left-winkers. These persons were furnished with "generous space" to answer the charges, he said.

"In other words a Congressman elected by the people of the United States is placed upon a par before American soldiers with persons who have clearly provable Communist records," he added.

He described as a "very valuable piece of intelligence information for the Russians" a story quoting John Nicholas Brown, Assistant Navy Secretary for Air, as saying the atom bomb would be of little immediate use to the United States if war came now.

SAYS MOTORIST STRIPPED HIM FIRST

'Care' He Gave 'Pal's Gun' Pops Taxi Rider Into Jail

CHICAGO, Feb. 29—(INS)—Ronald Rankin told an unhappy tale Sunday as he sat in his cell in a Chicago police station.

Rankin, 25, claims that it all started when he was asked to take care of a revolver for a pal who is in the Army.

A few days ago Rankin set out on a hitch-hiking trip from his home in Davenport, Iowa, for Chicago—just to see the big city.

The first motorist who picked him up took all the money he had —$2.76—and his suitcase. He finally made it into town without a dime in his pocket, but with his pal's revolver still in his pocket.

Rankin hailed a cab, drove around for an hour telling the driver his troubles, and then he hauled out the revolver—to give it to the cabbie for safe keeping.

The cabbie thought otherwise and sped to the cab garage, where fellow drivers summoned police.

And that's the story Rankin is telling police.

Officer Dies in Fire; 2 Injured at Fort Dix

FORT DIX, N. J., Feb. 29—(AP)—One officer died and two others were injured early Sunday when fire of undetermined origin razed a 40-room barracks for bachelor officers at this Army camp.

The body of Lt. Wallace I. Adams, 26, of Etowah, Tenn., was found under his bunk after the fire. Authorities said a preliminary investigation indicated he suffocated.

Capt. William H. Washburn, 43, of Boston, was treated for shock and multiple lacerations of one hand and forearm. He was confined to a hospital. Lt. Herbert Adler, 20, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was treated for first degree burns of the face and released.

Army officials said that because of the weekend, it was believed only six to 10 men were in the two-story frame barracks at the time.

Adams, a combat infantryman, enlisted in July, 1942, and spent 30 months in Europe. His father is Andrew J. Adams, of Murphy, North Carolina.

3 Are Borne To Safety, Hotel Fire Routs 20

CHICAGO, Feb. 29— (INS) — Firemen carried three persons down ladders Sunday and 20 other persons were driven to the street when fire swept the second and third floors of the East Side Inland Hotel.

Battalion Chief Bart Heffernan said the blaze, of undetermined origin, caused damage estimated at $3,000.

Apartment House Fire Kills Two, Injures Two

SPRINGFIELD Mass., Feb. 29—(UP)—Two men burned to death and two other persons were injured early Sunday when a two-alarm, $25,000 fire forced six families to flee from a three-story business and apartment block.

After checking dental work and fingerprints, police tentatively identified the dead men as Ernest Flagg, 46, a machinist, and Herman W. DuBour, 50. Both were occupants of the apartment block.

Police said the fire started in a faulty oil heater in Joe's Log Cabin Restaurant shortly after the owner of the eating place had closed it for the night.

Seven Escape Death As Fishing Boat Burns

TAVERNIER, Fla., Feb. 29—(AP) Seven persons escaped death Sunday when a charter fishing boat burst into flames and sank soon after starting out on an all-day fishing trip.

Capt. Harvey Keeler, owner and operator of the 35-foot fishing boat, said he had trouble with the engine but thought he had succeeded in repairing it.

Soon after the party left the pier, the engine started backfiring. Keeler said he smelled gasoline and lifted the hatch cover to air out the bilges.

A sheet of flame shot up, almost engulfing the craft. When attempts to extinguish the fire proved futile, the group jumped overboard.

Truman, Aides Open Drive For Red Cross

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—(UP) President Truman and two of his top cabinet officials Sunday night officially opened this year's $75,000,000 Red Cross fund campaign by appealing to all Americans to join in wholehearted support of the organization.

Mr. Truman, Honorary Chairman, said in an address broadcast over all major networks that "in this great cause it matters not how we may differ on the pressing issues of the day—beneath the flag of the Red Cross we are a united people."

The President spoke from his vacation retreat at Key West, Fla. His remarks were piped into Constitution Hall here, where Sec. of State George C. Marshall and Sec. of Defense James Forrestal and other Government and public officials participated in special ceremonies.

With former Ambassador to Japan Joseph C. Grew presiding, other speakers included National Red Cross Chairman Basil O'Connor and Irving S. Olds, Chairman of the U. S. Steel Corporation. The program was highlighted by the Theater Guild of the presentation of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," starring Madeline Carroll and Brian Aherne.

Mr. Truman, whose address was broadcast between acts of the play, said the strength of the Red Cross lies "in the fact that it belongs to the people."

"The 1948 campaign objective totals $75,000,000," he said. "The results, however, should be limited only by the generosity of the American people."

"Certainly, no price tag can be fixed upon the comforts given or the hopes relit by the Red Cross. Its services, particularly in these days, are priceless to our way of life."

CENTURY NOTES SELL AS WASTE

NANKING, Monday, March 1—(AP)—Hundred-dollar (yuan) bills are so worthless that some junkmen are buying them by weight as waste paper, the independent Hsin Min Pao reported Sunday. It said the price offered was about $2,000 a pound.

At the black-market rate of more than 300,000 to one U. S. dollar, it takes more than 3,000 hundred-dollar bills to equal one U. S. cent.

Cox Guest Of Truman In Florida

KEY WEST, Fla., Feb. 29—(AP)—President Truman entertained James M. Cox, 1920 Democratic Presidential nominee, at lunch Sunday in the course of a quiet Sabbath which included attendance at divine services.

Cox, former Ohio Governor and owner of newspapers and radio stations in Miami, Atlanta and Dayton, flew over from Miami with Daniel J. Mahoney, Vice President and General Manager of his Miami Daily News.

Eben Ayers, Assistant Presidential Press Secretary, attached no political significance to their visit with Mr. Truman at his quarters on the submarine base here.

Shortly after breakfast, the President, attired in a light Summer suit, and most of his aides, walked over to the Navy chapel, where Chaplain Paul W. Travis, of Loup City, Neb., delivered a sermon on the perils of materialism.

The President, a Baptist himself, shook hands with the Chaplain as he left the chapel with his staff to stroll to the enlisted men's beach for his daily swim.

He was accompanied by Fleet Adm. William D. Leahy, Special Counsel Clark M. Clifford, Asst. John R. Steelman, his three aides; Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, his physician, and Capt. C. C. Adell, Commandant of the Key West Naval Base.

After two hours at the beach the President returned to his quarters for lunch and napped in the afternoon. He attended a cocktail party in the afternoon at the quarters of Capt. Adell.

He planned to retire early after addressing the nation on behalf of the American Red Cross campaign.

State Protection Is Sought for Vet Builders

The next Georgia Legislature will be asked to enact laws to protect veterans who are purchasing or building new homes with money obtained through GI loans.

C. Arthur Cheatham, Director of the State Department of Veterans Service, disclosed Sunday he will ask the Veterans Service Board and the General Assembly to consider legislation which will require inspection by the State of the material, construction and equipment going into such homes.

He also said he would ask the two bodies to study ways and means to discourage veterans from assuming obligations in the purchase of homes which they will be unable to meet.

Courthouse Face Lifted

DAWSONVILLE, Feb. 29—Dawson County's 90-year-old courthouse which sits in the middle of the square in Dawsonville, is receiving a "face liftting." The building of English architecture was beginning to crumble. The County Commissioners decided that the structure should be preserved and a complete renovation, inside and out, is now under way.

$4 Billion Income Tax Slash Urged By Senate Democrat, Aide To Whip

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—(INS) Sen. Lucas, Democrat, Illinois, assistant Democratic leader in the Upper Chamber, proposed Sunday an income tax cut of about four billion dollars a year and predicted that it would pass the Senate by "a big majority."

Lucas made this forecast as the Senate Finance Committee, of which he is a member, prepared to start 10 days of public hearings Monday morning on the Republican bill, which as passed by the House, would cut income taxes $6,500,000,000 a year.

Interest centers on a statement by Treasury Secretary Snyder which will be read to the committee at the start of the hearings. Senators will be watching to see whether Snyder leaves an opening for administration approval of a tax cut.

Senate Democratic leaders are attempting over the weekend to persuade Snyder and through him President Truman that a tax reduction is politically imperative in this Presidential election year. Snyder's statement is expected to show whether they have succeeded or failed.

Snyder is in Miami, Fla., recuperating from a severe cold. The President is vacationing in Florida. Snyder may make a personal appearance before the Finance Committee concludes public hearings on March 10.

The President and Snyder have steadfastly opposed any tax reduction which would reduce revenue, with Mr. Truman reported ready to veto any such bill. The President recommended to Congress in January a $40 tax cut for individuals to be paid for by an excess profits tax on corporations. This proposal has been abandoned.

A large number of Democrats in both House and Senate are said to be ready to vote to override a veto of the tax reduction bill if the President sticks to his position. This will depend, however, on the size of the tax cut.

Senate Republicans and Democrats agree that the $6,500,000,000 reduction approved by the House is too large. There is said to be no prospect of a tax cut of this size passing Congress over a veto.

Lucas declared that if the tax cut included certain provisions and were trimmed to around $4,000,000,000 a year, it would be "very difficult" to keep it from becoming law, regardless of the President's position.

The provisions which he said would win greatest support were:

1. An increase in the personal income tax exemption from $500 to $600 for each taxpayer and dependent.

2. Provision for income tax splitting by married couples in all States to reduce taxes.

3. Some reduction in the income tax rates which would hold the over-all tax cut to around $4,000,000,000 a year.

He said "a majority of the Senators to whom I have talked are definitely in favor of such a tax reduction plan."

As an alternative, Lucas proposed an increase in the personal exemption from $500 to $600 plus the income-splitting provision, with no reduction in tax rates.

LEAP DAY INVADES CHURCH—Two attractive Atlanta girls got eligible bachelors as far as the church Feb. 29, but there the Sabbath "Leap Day" quarry went into doubtful meditation. Austin Abbott, seated left, and Traffic Judge Luke Arnold have far-away looks as they hear "proposals" respectively from Miss Catherine Scott, 278 Twelfth St., N. E., and Miss Sara Tumlin, 120 Fifth St., N. E. The occasion was the First Baptist Church's observance of a Leap Year Ladies' and Bachelors' Day Sunday.

Police Blotter

CHILD MOLESTER—A partially unclad man who Sunday morning offered a seven-year-old girl $5 "to go ride" with him eluded Patrolmen T. M. Stribling and Walt Parham in an auto chase over the Morningside section, police said. The child, walking along Monroe Drive, N. E., refused to get into the black Plymouth coupe when the man stopped it beside her, the officers said.

QUICK TREATMENT—A Grady Hospital ambulance surgeon did an "on-the-spot" emergency splint job Sunday afternoon for a traffic victim. Rushed out Roswell Road by Driver T. T. Moorelan, the doctor placed the fractured leg of Troy Hester, 19, of 104 Copeland Rd., into a splint. Hester had lost control of his automobile and was injured when it plunged into a utility pole, police said.

SPRING CLEANING — Taking advantage of Spring weather Sunday to clean up a vacant lot led to a severe stab wound in the stomach for H. G. Posey, 35, of 2898 Gordon Rd., S. W., Fulton County Police reported. A man who became involved in an altercation with Posey at the lot-cleaning scene is being sought by police. Posey was admitted to Grady Hospital.

HURRIED DEPARTURE — Her new roommate hastily departed after being advised in a telegram of her mother's illness, Miss Alice Cook, 1368 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E., told police. Miss Cook said that a quantity of her own clothing had also suddenly vanished.

DOPE BURGLARY — Narcotics thieves struck here again Sunday morning, police said, and grabbed 400 grains of morphine and other narcotics from the H. G. Walden Drug Store, 500 Chestnut St., N. W. In the foray, one of a series of narcotics thefts reported here recently, the burglars snatched $5 from the cash register.

LOCKER DRAMA—An escaped convict from Putnam County was seized Sunday at the Terminal Station as he stuffed stolen goods into a locker, police said. Patrol Sgt. E. B. Brooks and Patrolman E. W. Felder, becoming suspicious of the Negro's actions, began questioning that led him to admit stealing a coat, cigars and a hat from a car parked at Luckie and Cone Streets, police said. The Negro, listed as Theodore Farley, also confessed his prison escape, the officers added. The articles were returned to M. Jacobs, of New York, before he noticed their loss from his car.

PROWLERS — Admirers of a window display at Nat F. Clausman's Jewelry Store, 1032 Peachtree St., N. E., satisfied their wants early Sunday by smashing the glass and helping themselves to jewelry, police reported . . . Another destructive deed was reported by J. O. Gartman, 536 Boulevard, N. E. His auto was in its regular parking place Sunday morning but vandals had sliced the tires.

NEW TREND IN GOLF—A new trend that possibly could completely revolutionize the game of golf was introduced Sunday night at the Fort McPherson Golf Course, Atlanta police reported. According to Patrolmen C. W. Rogers and W. E. Harwell, a man listed as J. E. Boone, of an Oglethorpe Avenue address, toured the course at Fort McPherson in less than 10 minutes, making a stop at each of its nine holes. The officers said he made the round in an automobile, causing considerable damage to the well-kept greens. Due to the fact he had operated the vehicle on private property (U. S. Government) all the City policemen could charge him with was being drunk. He will have to explain the episode to Military Police authorities at the Army post today, however, to get back his car, which was impounded by the Army.

PAINT FIRE—A bucket of paint he was mixing in the kitchen Sunday afternoon burst into flame and burned C. A. Reeves, 593 Lynhaven Dr., S. W., police said. Reeves, slipping while trying to get the blazing bucket out of the house, spilt the burning paint over the kitchen, police added. Reeves was treated at Grady Hospital for burns to his right hand and forearm. The kitchen was badly damaged.

REPEATER—A wave of purse-rifling at the expense of women shoppers looked like the work of a Negro woman they believed already in prison, police said. But a check of the records showed that Helen Scretchins had completed her sentence Feb. 16. Taken into custody, she admitted three thefts police were probing and one that was unreported, Det. Sgt. Glenn Cowan and Det. J. O. Moseley disclosed. They listed victims as Mrs. C. C. Grant, 304 Crumley St., S. W., robbed of $27; Mrs. Frances Burks, 417 Windsor St., S. W., $11; Mrs. P. C. Ribers, Fairburn, $14.

TWO HURT IN FIGHT—Two DeKalb County men were treated early Sunday at Grady Hospital for blackjack wounds which police said the men received in a fight at a night club on Highway 42. Identified as James B. Ivester, 28, of Stone Mountain, and Robert A. DeLoach, 24, of Avondale Estates, the men were booked by DeKalb County police on charges of being drunk on the highway after they were dismissed from Grady.

YOUNG BLEEDER—Threatened with internal bleeding, a 4-year-old boy whose blood won't coagulate was listed as "only fair" Sunday at Grady Hospital. Tommy Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cole, of 225 Carroll St., S. E., is described by physicians as a hemophiliac. He was rushed to the hospital Saturday after his side was bruised, but the skin unbroken, while he was playing.

Suspect Held In Ride-Rob

A rob-ride bandit who pulled a daring daylight job in the heart of Atlanta traffic was identified by his victim, police revealed.

Ralph Smith, 136 Moreland Ave., N. E., pointed in a police lineup to B. W. Lott, 39, of 715 Brookline St., S. W., as the man who jumped into his car, robbed him, then abandoned him on the street, Det. Sgt. Glenn Cowan and Det. J. L. Moseley said.

Smith claimed he had stopped for a red light at Forsyth and Luckie Streets when a man, smelling of liquor, climbed into the car and pointed a pistol in his face.

Smith said that while being forced to drive on, the bandit robbed him of $31, then later shoved the pistol against his ribs and forced him out. The holdup man sped away in the car, Smith added.

Lott claimed he was drunk and didn't remember his actions Saturday, police said. "If I had done something like that, I would have left the automobile in a parking lot near a hotel," detectives quoted Lott as saying.

A check of parking lots led to recovery of the auto, police added.

This Troubled World

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—(AP)—New export controls will be put into effect Monday, tying in diplomatic and commercial aims.

The main objectives were described officially as to cushion the inflationary effect of foreign shipments on the U. S. economy and to "promote our foreign policy."

The new regulations, administered by the Commerce Department's Office of International Trade:

1. Require licenses for all shipments to Europe of over $100 value, whether or not the goods shipped are in short supply here.

2. Put the granting of licenses to export short-supply goods to any foreign country on a "competitive price" basis. Licenses will be refused to exporters whose prices are considered too high.

The new regulations raised a storm of protest from exporters in advance of their imposition. Many complained they would "eliminate the smaller, independent businessman in the export trade."

THREATENS U. S. OIL

CAIRO—(AP)—Emir Feisal, Saudi Arabian Foreign Minister, is quoted in the newspaper Al Misri as saying his country will cancel American oil concessions when other Arab states take joint action to this end.

The Emir's father, King Ibn Saud, was quoted in December by Tony Smith, of the Gannett newspapers, as saying he would "protect and maintain American oil operations and other projects in Saudi Arabia" regardless of what happens in Palestine.

Emir Feisal, interviewed by Al Misri at the Saudi Arabian port of Jidda, on the Red Sea, said:

"When the Arab Governments take a joint decision to cancel American concessions in their countries, the Saudi Arabian Government will be the first to carry out such a decision."

GREEKS EXECUTE 350

ATHENS, Greece—(UP)—Nearly 350 persons have been executed by Greek Army firing squads during the past five months, according to an unofficial tabulation.

Figures tabulated from reports carried in Athens newspapers showed at least 151 were shot in February alone.

Those executed included guerrillas, persons who actively aided the rebellion, soldiers who turned traitor and leftists charged with committing crimes during the 1944 uprising. The last group had been in jail since 1944.

CRIPPS LAUDS ERP

LONDON—(AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps described the Marshall Plan as a means for saving the "type of democracy which Western Europe now enjoys."

The Chancellor of the Exchequer last month told Britons their whole economic future depends on American aid. He told a suburban Labor Party audience:

"We want to perpetuate the type of democracy which Western Europe now enjoys and which we believe to be essential to the future of freedom-loving peoples of the world.

"That can only be done on the basis of an economy that is growing stronger under the influence of co-operation and of help from America."

POLICE CHEER BOY, RETRIEVE RACCOON

A raccoon named Jack and two policemen finally got together Sunday to bring happiness to an 11-year-old boy recovering from polio.

The illness prevented Donald Bartow, 332 Clifford Ave., S. E., from romping with other kids. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bartow, got him a pet raccoon for a playmate. Donald was saddened when Jack suddenly departed two weeks ago.

Patrolmen B. E. Wilton and L. C. Cope were called Sunday to remove a coon from the top of a house on Oleander Street, N. W. They immediately recognized Jack from his "dog collar" and the description Donald's parents had previously given police. Jack and Donald were becoming friends again Sunday night.

ON THE LABOR FRONT

U. S. Seeks To Settle Atom Employees' Dispute

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—(UP)—The Government Sunday summoned company and union officials to meet here Monday in an effort to work out a wage contract for employees at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic energy plant.

Cyrus S. Ching, Director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, asked representatives of the Carbide and Carbon Chemical Corporation and the Atomic Trades and Labor Council (AFL) to continue negotiations here in an effort to prevent a work stoppage at the vital Oak Ridge Laboratories.

The laboratories have been operating under a contract between the Monsanto Chemical Company and the Atomic Energy Commission. The contract expired at midnight Sunday.

The laboratories, however, are now being operated by Carbide and Carbon and the parties thus far have been unable to negotiate a wage contract.

The Labor Department said Ching intervened because of "failure of the new contractor and the Council to reach a collective bargaining agreement and the possibility of a work stoppage in the Laboratories."

LEWIS STILL MUM

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Shaggy-browed John L. Lewis continued his "war of nerves" against the nation's soft-coal operators with no hint whether he will serve contract cancellation notice either Monday or Tuesday.

Such a move would mean that the country's nearly half-million bituminous coal diggers would walk out of the pits at midnight March 31 unless a new contract was worked out in the intervening 30 days.

No one would venture, however, whether the United Mine Workers president has decided the time is ripe to try to obtain his demand of $100-a-month pension for miners over 60 with 20 years' service.

The independent Lewis is expected back in Washington early this week from a Florida vacation, but there was no comment from his headquarters as to what action may be taken—if any.

N. Y. EXCHANGES THREATENED

NEW YORK—(AP)—With the expiration of the present contract less than 48 hours away, officials of the United Financial Employees (AFL) and the New York Stock and Curb Exchange made no new effort to settle their dispute.

Although conciliation sessions have been scheduled for late this week, Union officials said they might call a strike at the exchanges and unionized brokerage houses any time after expiration of the contract at midnight Monday.

Both exchanges have announced their quotation ticker services will be maintained as usual in event of a strike.

The Union's demands include wage increases and a union shop.

NLRB Hearing For Phone Group

A National Labor Relations Board examiner will begin hearings here today on a petition for decertification filed by three employees of Southern Bell Telephone Company.

The petition, filed under the Taft-Hartley law, asks the NLRB to decertify the Communications Workers of America, Southern Division No. 49, as the recognized bargaining agent of a group of employees claiming professional status.

The Union said it will contend the NLRB does not have the power under the law to hear a petition for decertification of so-called "splinter" groups unless the Board has pending a representation proceeding covering the entire bargaining unit.

If the NLRB should rule it has jurisdiction in the case, the Union has signified intentions to challenge the Board's decision in court.

Lost-Found Auction Announced at Tech

An auction of lost and found articles will be conducted at noon today on the steps of the Georgia Tech Administration Building by Alpha Phi Omega, school service fraternity.

The articles, consisting of discarded clothing and various school equipment, will be sold to the highest bidder. All proceeds will go to the Student Activities Building Fund.

A similar auction held two months ago netted over $100.

LOUELLA PARSONS REPORTS:

'Sound of Years' Bought For Barbara Stanwyck

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 29—(INS)—For 10 days Barbara Stanwyck has been staking out a claim on next year's Oscar, working in those grueling telephone scenes for "Sorry, Wrong Number." Barbara, with her sense of humor, says:

"If Luise Rainer could win an Academy award with one telephone call in 'The Great Ziegfeld,' what do I get for 10 days of solid talk?"

Let the lady kid if she wants. I hear this telephone sequence will lift you out of your theater seat.

Barbara Stanwyck

Anyway, Hal Wallis is so impressed he has bought a new story for Barbara, "The Sound of Years," by Meriam Modell. The story concerns a married couple who run into complications when the wife's subdeb daughter, by a previous marriage, comes to live with them. Lucile Fletcher is scripting.

I am very glad that "Knock on Any Door" is the first picture Robert Lord will make with Humphrey Bogart for Columbia. Mark Hellinger had prepared the whole story. At the time he bought the film rights to John Monk, Jr.'s, novel, he told me he planned to have Bogey play the lawyer and act as a commentator. Mark put all that down in notes which will be used when the picture goes before the cameras the last of June.

"Tokyo Joe," by Steve Fisher will be the second Bogart-Lord picture, but it seems fitting that Mark's choice should be first.

Sam Goldwyn says that Geraldine Brooks is one of the young people who will make history in Hollywood. She is the girl who played Joan Crawford's daughter in "Possessed." She has made only about two pictures, but according to Sam, she shows great promise.

Jack Warner apparently agrees with Goldwyn, because he has given her the lead opposite Dane Clark in "Sunburst," the story of a taxi driver who has a hit-and-run accident and suffers accordingly. A new director will handle these young people—his name is Felix Jacves.

Clark Gable is back from Palm Springs and is on his ranch. I am very glad to say that the operation at one time planned on his leg, is not now necessary. He still walks with a limp, but that will disappear as soon as he is completely well.

Clark has had a more serious time than most people knew. He's been suffering for a long time.

He will not start work March 15. That, I can say absolutely. MGM wants him to rest.

Jean Louis, the RKO designer, is so deeply impressed with the American reaction to the Freedom Train that he has enlisted the aid of influential Frenchmen in this country and in his native land to sponsor a French counterpart of this veuture.

Louis will take back to Paris with him photographs and all available data on the inspiring tour of the American train to put before President Vincent Auriol of France.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Xavier Cugat and Herman Hover, head man of Ciro's, are feuding. Mr. Hover wants the excitable Cugat to stay right with his orchestra and not to dance so much.

Gail Russell is dividing her time between Guy Madison and Jack Stassen, a hair stylist—maybe I'd better say he operates a beauty parlor.

Ann Miller, who denies there is anything but a friendship with Ernie Byfield, Jr., dining with him at the Somerset House.

Bette Davis has discovered Palm Springs and will remain there until mid-April when it gets plenty hot—at least it used to be in 1925 when I spent months there. Bette plans to build a house there.

John Farrow is very happy, and well he might be. Both fame and box office magazines will announce soon that he is the top money-making director of 1947. The new Farrow baby will be baptized Sunday at the Good Shepherd Church, with Bishop McGucken officiating.

A baby to be christened Easter Sunday is the Don De Fore's infant daughter. The Rev. Glen Peuder of the Emanuel Presbyterian Church, who married the baby's father and mother, and christened the two other De Fore children, will christen the baby, Dawn De Fore.

Martha Stewart has bought a valley ranch where she will raise Tennessee walking horses. That must be the breed I bet on at Santa Anita!

Byron Richardson Honored by Frat

Byron P. Richardson, Chief of Disability Claims Section of Veterans' Administration Branch Office No. 5, has been initiated as an honorary member of Sigma Delta Kappa, Intercollegiate Law Fraternity.

Richardson's membership was conferred by Chancellor George C. Nuzum of the Alpha Tau Chapter in ceremonies Saturday night at the Woodrow Wilson College of Law. Five students at the college also were initiated into the society. They are: James R. Blalock, J. M. Ginn, James B. McGregor, L. A. Porter and W. E. Von Rosenbery.

Ben T. Huiet, Sr., Commissioner of Labor for the State of Georgia, a sustaining member of the fraternity, addressed the group.

Next War Will Hit Suddenly ---McNarney

NEW YORK, Feb. 29—(UP)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, Commanding General of the Army Air Forces' Air Material Command, Sunday warned the country that "there will be no time for preparation" if another war comes.

In a speech prepared for delivery at a banquet for Jewish War Veterans, the General said Americans "would be victors indeed" if there is another war.

"Never in history," he said, "has there been such need for each individual American to be aware that he has a part to play in the destiny of his country."

The former commanding general of U. S. forces in the European Theater was presented a plaque commending him for "military statesmanship" by former Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morganthau, Jr.

Former Governor of New York Herbert H. Lehman declared the U. S. embargo on arms to Palestine is "giving aid and comfort to the Arab states."

Lehman urged the U. S. to admit 100,000 displaced persons annually for the next four years, and said, "if we turn our backs on the displaced persons our leadership will be viewed with shattered faith."

Another speaker, Brig. Gen. Julius Klein, National Commander of the Jewish War Veterans, declared it was "unthinkable" for Congress not to pass immediate universal military training.

"The juggernaut that rolled over Czechoslovakia bears no greater love for our country than it did for Czechoslovakia," Gen. Klein said.

Intruder Is Held On Girl's Charge

A Negro man accused of breaking into a 15-year-old white girl's bedroom and scratching her back until she awoke was captured Sunday, police said.

Patrolmen Sanders and Davis made the arrest while investigating another report that a Negro had entered a residence at 293 Woodward Ave., S. E. They said that the description of the Negro in the latter foray tallied with that of the "back-scratcher" who had terrorized the 15-year-old at a Pryor Street address earlier in the day.

The girl's screams awakened her mother, who was asleep in the same room, Patrolmen J. H. Langley and D. Wright reported. Both women identified the Negro, listed as Joe William Smith, 306 Glenn St., as the intruder, police added. Smith was charged with suspicion of attempted assault.

to fall behind the iron curtain of Communism — Premier Klement Gottwald called for an intensive drive to increase Communist Party ranks by 600,000 by May 1. A purge against "negative" members of Parliament, the courts, opposition parties and sports organizations was under way.

Gottwald spoke at the closing session of the two-day meeting in Prague of the National Peasant Congress, renewing the promise he made that all farms larger than 50 hectares (124 acres) would be cut up among small farmers.

The redistributed estates would be owned privately, he said, to "make sure that no one can ever again lie to you about there being any Kolkhozes (Soviet-style collective farms) here."

The Central Action Committee formed in last week's lightning Communist coup formally declared itself "the center of all public life" and set up a commission to "cleanse (non-Communist) parties of the enemies of the people's democratic regime."

The Ministry of Justice announced that "persons who did not have a positive attitude . . . have been removed from the judicial service," and the Parliamentary Action Committee said that "certain selected members of Parliament" had been invited to join an uncritical pro-Government majority.

Simultaneously, associations in nearly every branch of Czechoslovak sport announced that they had formed action committees to purge persons lacking a positive attitude or would soon do so.

Farley Pleads for U. S. To Face Holy Land Issue

NEW YORK, Feb. 29—(AP)—James A. Farley said Sunday that the United States "cannot and should not dodge" the Palestine question

The former Postmaster General and Democratic National Chairman said that "one of the greatest problems confronting this country today is the Palestine question."

DRINKING PARTY MELEE

4 Are Injured, 6 Jailed In 'Mutiny' Aboard Ship

EVERETT, Wash., Feb. 29—(UP)—Three officers and the master of the freighter Augustine Victory were hospitalized and six seamen were jailed here Sunday after a battle aboard ship which the officers termed "mutiny."

Fourteen heavily armed Sheriff's Deputies and police officers met the vessel when it docked here early Sunday after a voyage up Puget Sound from Seattle. They responded to a message from the ship requesting that an ambulance and police meet her when she arrived.

Shohomish County Sheriff Tom Warnock said he found the captain, W. R. Marson, 28, Rochester, N. Y., unconscious in his bunk. A soldier stowaway was being held in manacles by the ship's officers.

Officers hospitalized in addition to the captain were:

John Fráley, Purser; William J. Nolan, First Officer; and John W. Hays, Steward.

The stowaway soldier was identified as Ben S. King, 23, of Fort Lewis, Wash. He told officers he was on leave.

According to the ship's officers, the captain, purser, first officer and steward went below to break up a "drinking party" in the crew's quarters. The crewmen refused to obey the Captain, and a soldier stowaway the crewmen had invited aboard attacked the Captain. In the general melee that followed, they said, the Captain was struck on the head and knocked down and the three officers sustained slight injuries.

However, the crewmen denied striking the officers, and said the captain slipped and struck his head on a stanchion.

Capt. Marson was taken to Providence Hospital here, where attendants described his condition as satisfactory. The other officers were treated and released.

Capt. W. D. Hill, Chief of the Coast Guard Inspection Service, said a full-scale investigation would be conducted.

The Snohomish County Sheriff's Office arrested six of the crewmen on open charges pending the results of the investigation.

Lt. Cmdr. R. N. Elder ran into headwind trouble and took one hour and 21 minutes to fly to San Francisco.

The other mark was set by Lt. Cmdr. John J. Magda, who roared to San Diego in two hours, 12 minutes and 54 seconds.

Red Victory In Manchuria Seen Certain

NANKING, Feb. 29—(UP)—Communist Commander Lin Piao's armies were rolling over the Nationalist salient in the "industrial power house" of Manchuria Sunday and neutral observers almost unanimously agreed the Government position there is "as good as lost."

The Red victory, considered the greatest since the end of World War II, is expected to have far-reaching repercussions not only on China and the Far East but upon the whole world.

It adds one of the richest portions of the world to the Soviet orbit. Its loss is the most dangerous threat to Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek's 22-year rule over the Chinese subcontinent. An old Chinese proverb says, "The one who controls Manchuria controls China."

The Communists followed their victory at Yinkgow Sunday with the reported capture of Kiyan, another important Government bastion 70 miles north of Mukden. This places large Communist forces massed between Hsinmin and Chinchow, establishing a strong roadblock against Government efforts to salvage the situation.

Chiang is expected to make an effort to save his position in Manchuria, but the feat is believed almost impossible. Competent observers estimated nothing short of a half-million troops would be able to turn the tide against the Communists. These observers doubt if Chiang can spare so many troops from China proper, where the situation also is critical.

The paper previously had sustained fines and several minor suspensions.

In Defense of Subsidies

Continued government support of farm prices is being debated—by Republicans and urban representatives who think they should be reduced and by Democrats and agricultural leaders who think they should be retained.

The theory of subsidy is debatable. But it is not paradoxical, as some think. The farmer, who opposes government interference in his affairs, is on sound ground when he asks parity subsidies.

It is sound for this reason—it seeks to keep the farmer's income in approximate balance with the income of other groups. It does so by saying that the government will, if necessary, put a floor under prices he gets for selling his goods to keep the cost of what he buys from getting out of relative balance.

Farming is different. It is not just another business. It is subject to drouth, excessive rains, freezes and to the sometimes disorderly rampages of nature, which is not always as orderly as the poets have it. A man raising beef cattle must gamble on what prices will be two or three years ahead. A man planting an apple orchard has seven years to wait for his first fruit. The farmer, deciding this Spring what to plant, may find a year from now that weather has ruined him or that too many others guessed as he did and the market is glutted.

All this being true, it is obvious the farmer, in times of great demand for food, should not be asked to put more land into production unless there is some guarantee he will not be ruined by a sudden shift in demand.

He must have the protection, or guarantee, of subsidy.

Mr. Hamilton Throws in the Towel

If there was any evidence needed that at least some aspects of the Truman civil rights proposals are political, we have it in the somewhat belated resignation of Mr. George Hamilton as Finance Director of the Democratic National Committee. He also had been prominently mentioned as a possibility in the national party set-up and was being talked around Washington as one of those considered for the Federal Reserve Bank Board.

Mr. Hamilton resigns in protest to Mr. Truman's civil rights proposals, and, incidentally, gives the back of his hand to "dat ole debil," Wall Street. A few days ago Mr. Hamilton was pledged to a Truman delegation and for the Jackson-Jefferson Day dinner.

To the casual observer this would indicate that Mr. Hamilton has thrown in the towel insofar as Mr. Truman and Mr. Ed Rivers are concerned, and has hastily climbed on what he conceives to be the Georgia bandwagon. The wagon is already crowded and there just is no telling what sort of a seat he got.

It now remains to be seen whether National Committeeman Ed Rivers, who more or less stands alone upon the burning deck, will give a Jackson-Jefferson Day dinner and if so, whom he will invite.

The Walton Tribune's Farm Edition

Annually, The Walton Tribune gets out a special Agricultural Edition devoted to farm progress in the county.

Last year, largely because of the excellence of this presentation, The Tribune won the Agriculture Extension Service Plaque for "The Most Significant Contribution To a Better Farm and Home Program in Georgia," an award The Constitution is proud to have been accorded in 1948.

The latest Agricultural Edition of The Tribune, issued last week, is one of the finest Ernest Camp and his cohorts have ever published. Its 136 pages are crammed with current and pertinent information on Walton's farm program, attractively presented and adequately illustrated.

In thus summarizing Walton's agricultural picture, The Tribune has rendered a service not only to residents of the county but also to readers all over the State.

Georgia would be fortunate if more local papers undertook thus to interpret their communities to their citizens and the rest of the nation.

We Remain Critical

Attorneys for Lingo H. Morris, of Bibb County, who was convicted of poisoning his wife while engaged in an affair with another lady, protest a Constitution editorial criticizing action of the Pardon and Parole Board which, by a two-to-one vote, commuted a death sentence which had been carried all the way to the Supreme Court of the United States and lost.

Their argument indeed is a curious one. It is that in each appeal their client received the support of some of the court justices.

It is a curious argument because, by the same token, after a jury of Bibb County citizens had unanimously approved the verdict, a majority of each court also approved it.

The board can act, according to law, only on new evidence, or when health of the prisoner is involved.

In this case neither of these factors was involved.

We remain critical.

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

The Constitution welcomes letters on either side of any subject. They should not exceed 200 words and must be signed, although names will be withheld on request. We regret none can be returned.

Investigation Needed

Editor Constitution: Some time ago I bought a small wreck of a house, which I wanted to have remodeled for my niece. A dirty-looking man and his two sisters (all over 60 years old) lived there. The old mother, bedridden for many years, had recently died. One old sister was blind, so that she got relief from the County; the other sister also got extra benefits as she waited on the blind one. I really don't know whether or not the man was on relief but some one told me he was. They had gone into this house nearly 20 years ago at $1.75 a week; after the OPA went in (or was it OPA?) the rent couldn't be changed and the owner simply let the house rot down. Wallpaper which had been pasted over canvas over wood-ceiled rooms hung in great balloons, the walls were almost eaten away with great rat holes; the floors were falling through and the back steps falling down so that they were terribly dangerous and all of the house was full of filthy junk. As I read this it sounds so mild that I realize I'm not beginning to give you the picture. At any rate, picture the yard full of dead rats as I put out poison; and millions of roaches coming out every time a plank was lifted. Picture the old woman who was said by neighbors to simply spit out her snuff by aiming at the wall, and the yard with tin cans and jars and bottles which almost filled the well as I had them thrown in; an open privy and an open well in the yard. No garden, for these folks just sat and let the County furnish food.

I told these things one day at a friend's house and almost fainted when the two teachers who were boarding there told me that welfare children had been boarded with these people. The teachers said that the children cried all day at school and when I asked why it wasn't reported, they said it didn't do any good and that there were some boarded in much worse places for at least the characters of these were all right and in some, where there were boys and men, it was actually dangerous. They had reported it and tried to do something about it but since homes were scarce it seems the workers make no investigations whatever but put the little things just wherever it is possible to do so. There are some homes around here which are all right for the children, I am sure, but the teachers here can tell you of the things which sound incredible.

Why are such workers chosen to look after these very important matters? That also needs looking into, I believe.

Amusing

Editor Constitution: It is really amusing to watch our Southern politicians turn and twist since President Truman advocated his Civil Rights Bill. If they would spend half as much time and energy trying to help instead of trying to hinder, we might some day see a real democratic country. Mississippi, with one of the lowest educational standards in the country, still can afford to raise $61,000 to fight civil rights. What does the South expect to gain from a split with the Democratic Party?

What Does He Want?

Editor Constitution: Re: Mr. Truman's ten-point civil rights program. In recent issues of The Constitution, you have advocated a two-party system in Georgia's politics. Well, Mr. Truman has done more in this administration to bring that about than any other man in my recollection. One day he advocates partition of Palestine, the next day he advocates doing away with segregation in the U. S. Now he wants to place Negroes and whites in the same offices and stores on a pro-rata basis of population. Will some kind reader tell me what Mr. Truman really wants to do, or does he know himself? How can any red-blooded Southerner vote for him in the face of his attitude toward abolition of the "Jim Crow law" and the FEPC being instigated?

Poor Service?

Editor Constitution: In reference "Poor Service" by George Schmidt—knocking our transportation and Georgia Power Company.

Can't understand what section of town "George" that you live in to have to spend so much time waiting for busses or street cars. I have lived in Atlanta most of my life, am a working girl riding the bus mornings and evenings. Have never had to wait over five minutes for a bus during rush hours.

Have never visited in New Orleans, the place you so highly praise. My advice is to go back there, or to start walking to your destination, as you stated one could walk by the time they have to wait on a bus.

The Uncomfortable Southern Dilemma

This is a sort of second chapter on the biracial forum held recently in the auditorium at Spellman College. I had been asked to talk on the majority Southern viewpoint and did. This viewpoint is, of course, against Federal enactment of civil rights measures as proposed by the President.

When it was over two young Negro students came up to me, separately, and asked these questions:

1. "Mr. McGill, why is it the majority in the South do not want the Negro to have justice and a fair chance?"

2. "Will you tell me, sir, how a liberal viewpoint can oppose the Federal legislation?"

I had opposed the timing and the methods behind the Federal legislation as proposed, with an argument which can best be summed up as follows:

Argument "I want the South to do what is right. I do not want the Federal Government to compel it. . . . I want Georgia and Mississippi and South Carolina and all the others, whose chief problem it is, to do what is just and right because they want to do it, and not because they are made to do so. Until that is done, the Federal provisions will not be worth any more than the paper on which are written many, many already existing laws of the Constitution of the United States and legislation by the Congress implementing those guarantees. Divorced from ballots, that is what it must be.

"Federal law has got to stop somewhere. It cannot go on until it replaces all local law.

"The proposed Federal legislation will not affect or change existing State laws . . . a fact largely overlooked.

"Juries still are selected from panels drawn in the respective communities.

"Changing a jury from the courthouse to the jury box in the Federal building will not change a state of mind."

Leadership I am fully aware of the philosophy of leadership, and of pulling for the long view. But, I happen to be alive as of now and the tools with which I must work are the tools of today.

So, I want the South to do what is right and proper and I suffer because I am afraid the South may not want to . . . but I want the South to have the decision now that the issues are committed to battle.

Revolt Let the South not fail to overlook that, while the net result may be the crowning of pettiness, the revolt against President Truman reaches deeper than the best observers first believed it would.

Too much of the thinking seems to be that the solution is to defeat Harry Truman . . . all that despite the fact the present Republican Congress may enact some, or all, of the measures Truman has proposed, well before the votes are cast in November.

It is disturbing to note that in the group which is crying on the crusade to solve everything by beating Truman, are all the old mob who fought REA, TVA, all the social legislation of the past 16 years. Their presence is not reassuring.

The South is in a dilemma, and a very grave one.

It has outmaneuvered itself once more by pitting States' rights against civil rights. That is a terrifying error, because States' rights are supposed to mean civil and personal rights. Indeed, is the shore for which we steer more dimly seen than before.

So it seems to me. Therefore, I refuse, with what I conceive to be intellectual honesty, to hie on the abused and the disfranchised, saying: "This is the solution."

This, I know, satisfies no one—not even me. But, not being beholden or in politics, I can say it.

RALPH T. JONES

'And Lesser Breeds Without the Law'

As one who was not born within the confines of this area we call Dixie, I have always hesitated to express personal opinions on the delicate subject of racial relations, between whites and Negroes, in this part of the world.

On the other hand, I was born in England into a society which accepted without question the assumption contained in the words of Rudyard Kipling, "and lesser breeds without the law." As a boy and youth, attending an English school, looking upon the world from within that little island which for so long considered itself the focus of everything important in the world, it seemed axiomatic that there are, scattered around, "lesser breeds" of mankind than our own proud Anglo-Saxons.

National conceit, I'll admit. I'll admit more. We rather took it for granted, as obvious truth, that all "breeds" other than our own were "lesser."

Furthermore, I have lived in this South for by far the greater portion of my life. I married into a proud old family of South Carolina. Even if not born Southern, I have certainly been exposed to the Southern idea.

So, I claim, I can and do understand the Southern position in regard to this delicate question of the races which live here side by side.

The Tragedy Perhaps, then, I have acquired the right to say, here, that I think the real tragedy of the recent Southern eruption over the "civil rights issue," raised by President Truman, is the apparently obvious fact that it has been raised more for political purposes than for any true understanding of the issue or any genuine concern over any "civil rights" involved.

The timing of the presidential pronouncement, in an election year, when the cause of the Democratic Party is admittedly rather desperate, in the national picture, plainly indicates it is a move intended to lure Negro votes to the Democratic candidates in some States which may thus be swung, with their heavy electoral votes, into the Democratic column next November. There are several such States where a solid Negro vote could well prove the deciding factor.

What is more, I strongly suspect that some of the very vocal indignation coming from Southern politicians is largely inspired by political considerations on the State or local level.

The Wrong Approach It seems to me that the enactment of Federal laws can have no desirable effect upon the civil rights problem as it affects the Negro. You can't change such a condition, whether you regard it as right or as evil, just by passing a law. In such an issue, where emotions are so near the surface, attempts to force compliance to such laws can only result in aggravating the basic circumstances and lessening respect for all laws.

The simple logic of the situation, looking at it in the broad sense, is that American treatment of the Negro as a "lesser breed," a citizen of second-class rating only, cannot be defended. It brands this nation as hypocritical in all its world dealings. It makes us ridiculous as champions of a democracy that is based upon the theory of equality of opportunity and of civil rights for all citizens.

I don't think any Southerners possessed of any vision at all will want to deny that statement.

No decent citizen can defend lynching.

But it will be no easier to secure a verdict of guilty just by sitting the jurors in a Federal instead of a State court.

And any laws such as the FEPC proposal or anti-segregation enactments can only be enforced to the degree of willingness of the people directly involved.

Law, as a solution of such a problem, is ridiculous. Time, education and growing sense of brotherhood among all men is the only possible answer.

Unseat Our Chairborne Forces?

Michigan's Rep. Albert Engel has spoken out against the Army's plan to purchase 161,172 padded chairs for officers.

The gentleman from Michigan seems to be one of those who place great store by a standing Army.

If he has his way, military service will be broadening . . . but only in the cultural sense.

Before he objected, the Army reportedly was considering a fancy, upholstered chair. And I can believe it. After all, the first principle of military tactics is always carefully to protect one's rear.

Since Rep. Engel raised his voice in indignation, an all-metal model, at $9.45, has been decided upon. Obviously, the emphasis now is on over-head rather than under-seat.

Rep. Engel is correct, of course; you can't man the ramparts in rocking chairs. If our military leaders must rest, let it be on their laurels.

Indeed, if they want it soft, they can do like Congressmen and bring their own padding.

ROBERT QUILLEN

Soon or Late, We Must Stop Russia

There are anxious people in America, and many of them ask me the same question: "Will there be a war between Russia and the United States?" I know but one reasonable answer. There will be no war soon, for Russia is not ready. But the Russians are fighting us secretly, to the utmost of their ability, and will attack us openly, but without warning, when they feel strong enough to win.

When that time comes, war will follow as certainly as night follows day. And the handicap we have always placed upon ourselves, but always overcome, may prove fatal.

Democracy is not built for war. Our people hate war and will not consent to it except in self-defense. Only Congress can declare war, and it dare not against the will of the people. Therefore we must wait for the first blow, and this time the first blow may cripple us fatally before we can strike back.

I say the Russians will attack—not, as our own Reds declare, because we antagonize them—but for the exactly opposite reason.

We will invite them to attack. In a sense, the war will be our fault, as the others were, for we will deceive the Russians and tempt them beyond bearing.

Since the beginning, we have had but one true motto concerning war—unwritten, but known to all of us.

It is this: "We love peace, and will do our utmost to preserve it; but we love freedom and security more, and will fight to our last man and our last dollar to preserve them—any time, any where, against any odds."

By making all nations understand this, we could have prevented two wars—and might perhaps prevent a third.

The Kaiser would not have started the first World War if he had known our strength and had known that England and America would fight.

The Japs did not knowingly attack the world's most powerful nation. We had given them ample reason to believe us timid, stupid and weak.

Hitler did not plan the war he had to fight. He had every reason to believe that the "effete Democracies" would let him have his way and endure anything rather than fight.

Every step that led to this unfinished war might have been prevented by a courageous declaration of our intention to stop unprovoked aggression and conquest. Our apparent lack of courage, intelligence and principle invited others to do as they pleased.

Now history is repeating itself.

What a Southern Revolt May Mean

WASHINGTON—For the first time, practical Southern politicians are talking seriously about the end of the one-party system in the South. This is, of course, the result of the Southern rebellion against President Truman, and more particularly the rebellion's by-product, the Virginia bill allowing the State's representatives in the Electoral College to cast their ballots as they choose.

The resurrection of this antiquated constitutional device will allow Southerners to express both sides of their politically split personalities. They will be able to continue to vote as Democrats, yet to avoid assisting in the election of the Democratic Party's national candidates.

The trick is simple, and it is already appealing to conservative Southerners outside Virginia. South Carolina and Mississippi are definitely expected to pass bills of their own on the Virginia model. This holds out the pretty definite likelihood that Truman will lose the 28 Electoral College votes represented by Virginia. The number is not great, compared to the 531-vote total of the Electoral College. Yet it is quite enough to decide a close election. And it is also possible that other Southern States will follow the Virginian road.

Furthermore, even if the present movement is headed off, and the Southern electoral votes are in the end all racked up for Truman, there are still other dangers to overcome. It has already been published that Sen. Harry F. Byrd, after first expressing distaste, has now become inclined to let his name be presented as a presidential candidate. Besides Byrd, moreover, there is Sen. Walter F. George, who would command even wider Southern support. He is also giving signs of willingness to let himself be proposed to the Democratic Convention.

As far as the Convention is concerned, the Southern strategy will be to send uncommitted delegations, and to fight initially for a weasel-worded civil rights plank. The President's political representatives were at first inclined to concede such a plank in order to pacify the Southern rebels. But Truman balked at swallowing every word he had said on the subject of civil rights. The Southern Governors were turned away empty-handed when they called on the Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Sen. J. Howard McGrath. Now, therefore, the Southerners are more likely to be driven to the second stage of their convention plan, which is to nominate George or Byrd or both as rivals to Truman.

Events are almost certain to intensify the South's itch to make trouble at the Convention, and to go through, thereafter, with the Virginia scheme for depriving Truman of Southern electoral votes. The Fair Employment Practices, Anti-Lynching and Anti-Poll Tax Bills will all shortly come up for Senate votes. They will pass if the Senate applies cloture to halt filibusters.

This year, the election and the temptation to make trouble for Truman are powerful persuaders to induce these anti-cloture Republican Senators to change their votes. Enough switches are expected among them to pass at least the Anti-Poll Tax Bill, probably the FEPC, and possibly the Anti-Lynching Bill. Passage of these three pieces of legislation will drive the Southern white supremacy shouters to extremes of every kind, both of oratory and of action.

As to the long-range significance of the Southern rebellion, that is also pretty obvious. The new violence of the white supremacy shouters has in it a note of fear. Industrialization, agricultural diversification and the mechanical cotton picker are, in fact, already threatening the old Southern order which produced the Georges and McKellars, Byrds and Overtons. In the House, especially, a sprinkling of progressive Southerners has already appeared.

The Virginia bill returning to the State's presidential electors the right of free choice which the Constitution originally intended for them may simply hurt Truman at first. But it will also have the long-range effect of separating the forward-looking and backward-looking Southerners into two different political parties. This is really now almost inevitable at last.

The Natural Gas Rate Fight

WASHINGTON—There are more ways than one to get things done around here, as there are more ways than one to skin a cat. This has to do with skinning the consumer. It has to do, specifically, with the Rizley-Moore Natural Gas Bill. Something has been said here before about this measure that was rushed through the House one afternoon last session and now is pending before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

To freshen your recollection, this bill would cost natural gas consumers quite a tidy bit each year—the figure being estimated at $50,000,000 by Federal Power Commission experts—by changing the basis for fixing gas pipeline rates from cost of production to something called "prevailing field price." But, further than that and of long-time importance, it would hamstring this Federal agency—the FPC—set up to protect the consumer by forbidding the Commission to go into various items of cost that it customarily explores in fixing rates. To the average consumer this may seem technical, but it would cost him money.

An outcry has gone up from many quarters as the story has gotten around about this bill—how much it would cost the natural gas user, how it would boost still higher the already handsome profits of oil and gas companies, how this would benefit mostly a few big companies, how some of its promoters in Congress have connections of one sort and another with natural gas and oil.

Among the protesters is the Conference of Mayors, representing Mayors of cities all over the country. The Conference went on record against the bill at its recent meeting. Mayors are fully aware of what the bill would mean to householders in their cities.

Now all this public resentment has frightened the Republican leadership of Congress. This is an election year, and it might not be politically astute to hoist the toll on consumers just now, consumers also being voters. Likewise, this would hand the Democrats a tailor-made campaign issue, which President Truman could dramatize by a veto of the bill accompanied by a sizzling message. So there's talk of doctoring up the bill so it won't look so raw, leaving out some of its vulnerable provisions, or maybe just dropping the whole business for the time being, meaning before the election.

Anyhow, there is another way to get something done and this has the merit of shifting the blame to Democrats. That would be a change of attitude in the FPC, itself, which could issue rulings achieving some of the same results.

Such an opportunity is open. There is now a vacancy on the five-man FPC. For this post President Truman has nominated Burton N. Behling—assistant to Chairman Nelson Lee Smith—who conducted the FPC's natural gas investigation. This nomination, upon which the Senate failed to act last session, was resubmitted early this session and is now pending before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

Mr. Behling becomes important in this way. Two members of FPC, Chairman Smith and Harrington Wimberly, are advocating some changes in the 1938 Natural Gas Act through amendments. Mr. Behling, who is also for these amendments, testified before the Senate Committee that they are not "fundamentally different" from the changes proposed by the Rizley-Moore bill, though Messrs. Smith and Wimberly insist they are and that they do not go so far as the Rizley-Moore bill.

If Mr. Behling were confirmed, this would mean a 3-2 majority in FPC for the Smith-Wimberly position for changes, which presumably could be made through FPC orders. The two other FPC members, Claude L. Draper and Leland Olds, both veterans of long experience, vigorously oppose both the Rizley-Moore bill and the Smith-Wimberly proposals for amendment. They keep the FPC in a 2-2 tie, as presently constituted. Mr. Behling's confirmation would break the tie.

This situation poses a problem for Democrats, and with political implications, too. Pressure is being brought upon the White House to get out from under it, to go the length, if necessary, of withdrawing the Behling nomination and submitting another name.

This is one of the matters with which the President must concern himself when he returns from his vacation.

The Diplomat Landed on a Hot Spot

WASHINGTON—I bet Albert E. Clattenburg, the veteran diplomat, makes no more cracks about snag-toothed camels taking bites out of American tourists. I bet he never tells another joke so long as he lives. Not even in private.

Poor devil. What he had to do was make a speech at the State Department to young diplomats on how to go about protecting American citizens abroad. This is dull stuff to would-be Ambassadors and Clattenburg tried to liven it up a little. He certainly did.

"The State Department will protect its nationals if, when and where," he told the fledgling ministers plenipotentiary. "A national is a tourist who has just been bitten by a snag-toothed camel.

"The enraged national sends for a battleship and he gets a postcard. The card assures the national that it will not happen to him again. Not because the State Department is terrific, but because the camel didn't like the taste."

Clattenburg went on from there, larding the serious with the ridiculous (in order to keep the students awake) until he got to the part about how tourists always are going broke and getting into trouble in far places.

The diplomats have got to find 'em lawyers. Clattenburg said this was no particular trouble because the average American embassy keeps a list of local shysters (his word, gentlemen of the legal profession) on call. In Athens, Greece, in particular, he said, our Department of State has a particularly good assortment of shysters to help out troubled Americans.

Somehow—and I have no idea who was responsible—Clattenburg's remarks about shysters and snag-tooth camels came to the attention of the statesmen in charge of dolling out the cash to the State Department. I mean the members of the House Appropriations Subcommittee headed by Rep. Karl Stefan, of Nebraska. On the carpet they had Clattenburg's boss, Hamilton Robison, who never had heard of the snag-toothed camel speech.

His mouth fell when they quoted from Clattenburg's remarks about the State Department's shysters. They said this was terrible. They said the Department of State had no business hiring a man guilty of such shenanigans. So poor old Robinson had to investigate poor old Clattenburg.

Next day Robinson was back before the committee, with the entire speech, which he put into the record. He said unfortunately his man, Clattenburg, was being facetious in the classroom. The Congressmen said was he certain? Absolutely, he replied. So Clattenburg didn't get fired and the lawmakers thereupon devoted themselves to wondering how come the State Department needs nearly $200,000,000 next year, when only 10 years ago it got along on $14,000,000.

Rep. Cliff Clevenger, of Ohio, said the Department spread itself all over the world like an international Meddlesome Mattie. He said the diplomats kept on asking for millions to meet emergencies.

"And I kept track of the number of emergencies facing us until it got up into the seventies," he said, "and then I threw them away and quit counting."

So the statesmen investigated all phases of American diplomacy, with a new toward upholding our international dignity a little cheaper. They considered the State Department's limousines. They suggested that Mrs. Ruth Shipley, the passport chief, speak strongly to her clerks, who wrote 176,474 passports last year—and spoiled 15,234. Mrs. Shipley promised to tell 'em to be careful about the ink blots.

The lawmakers also learned what happened to the pictures of the fat lady in the circus and other similar works of art it wanted to send on a tour of the world. They're in storage in New York, while the diplomats try to persuade the War Assets Administration to sell 'em as war surplus. The WAA boys so far have refused to peddle the State Department's modern art. Claim they're in enough trouble already.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

A Newspaper Changes Its Stripes

The New York Herald Tribune formerly was known to the profession and the laity as a pillar of the Republican Party, the British Empire and the Church of England. It was stodgy, elderly, and, according to its own lights and heresies, holy. A change began early in the new deal, which has now become total as though some incredible old spinster with corkscrew curls and lace mitts had suddenly gone tarting in the taverns, picking up sailors and talking sex in a way to embarrass the very professionals lurking in the booths.

Whatever its formal party affiliation, The Herald Tribune, as of now, must be judged by its company and its editorial manners and these are inconsistent with the old girl's past.

In brief, and ignoring a weed growth of trivial signs to the contrary, this paper reflects the editorial and political policies of Joseph Barnes, whose title is Foreign Editor. An aggressive foreign editor is likely to be quite a fellow on any metropolitan paper in these days of great alarms, and the household rank and protocol on The Herald Tribune since the death of Ogden Reid enlarged the power of Mr. Barnes.

Joe Davies in his "Mission to Moscow" reports that both Barnes and his wife were radicals and says he was "informed" that Mrs. B. was much more radical than her husband. He described her, a little fearfully, it seemed, as a woman of "very definite opinions"—a determined woman, in fewer words. Davies might have added that she had formerly been the wife of Frederick Vanderbilt Field, a millionaire who was cited 25 times in the reports of the Dies Committee on Un-American Activities up to 1946 as a fellow afloat in the current Russian, totalitarian and Communistic affairs in the United States.

Field is an associate in the ideological works of Corliss Lamont, the voluptuous paradox of Wall Street and Union Square who gets an income of about $60,000 from the sentimental providence of his late father, Thomas W. Lamont, Chairman of the Board of J. P. Morgan and Company. Corliss lives like a rich Hollywood illiterate struck with social conscience, and maintains a group of 15 CIO union publications in New York whose policies might offend Americans but never a Muscovite.

I bow to the dictum of those who hold that there is nothing so fine or, anyway, so imperative, in the life of a man as the counsel of a woman wise and good. Accordingly, I take it that Mrs. Barnes, being, so Mr. Davies said, much more radical than Mister, wields an influence on the policies of The New York Herald Tribune.

The change in The Herald Tribune has been impalpable but, over a long time, radical.

The wise and stately Mark Sullivan's ethical lectures are less and less frequent and are drowned out by strident clamor on the left. The H-T (then The Tribune) was an Ivy League paper which thought the lower classes were getting out of hand when Penn State and Notre Dame placed a few barbarians on the second and third squads of Walter Camp's All-American selections about the outbreak of the first war.

Harvard, Yale and Princeton, and, of course, Oxford and Cambridge, were the only legitimate institutions of learning, and when Camp succumbed to pushful propaganda, nominating rude Poles and Lithuanians, a corner of the world caved in. Walter Lippman still celebrates irregularly and the writer of nostalgic editorials on sumac, snowdrifts and maple syrup in season still throws crumbs to the old birds in the reading rooms of the Union League and the racquet and tennis and in the club car of the Wall Street special to Greenwich.

We find interesting indications rather than declarations of policy.

A few months ago, one of the executive editors of the H-T went on the air in a discussion with William S. Gailmor. That is anyone's privilege in a country still freer than many of the H-T's friends would like us to be. However, Gailmor is not only a notorious liar and a preacher of the Communist line of political propaganda with regard to Poland and Europe generally, but he is also a thief. In the late war, he yelled for blood but kept himself safely sedentary here at home.

He was exposed as a criminal after he had sneaked into the radio staff of the old Blue network. All sponsors who have engaged him since, and many religious congregations which have invited him to lecture, have been on warning as to his character and politics. The editor of the H-T who thus joined him in a radio discussion also knew all about him and must have made his decision deliberately to "recognize" Gailmor.

Such "recognition" of course, is understood to confer prestige on the rogue who got it. The responsibility therefore lies with The New York Herald Tribune for whatever conclusions the public may draw.

THE QUESTION:

What punishment should be given youthful first offenders?

THE ANSWERS:

MRS. MILDRED PUTMAN, 2133 Reynolds Dr., S. E., salesperson—They should be given a good spanking. The best thing would be to make them feel ridiculous. Consider first the seriousness of offense—whether for reckless driving or for tearing down people's houses like some of the vandalism going on here during the past few months. Just making them stay at home and not have any money to spend on their girls would be enough punishment for an offense no more serious than reckless driving.

MRS. EARNEST P. WEST, Gastonia, N. C., homemaker—I think they should be given some consideration because it is their first offense. I think their background, opportunities, education, and particularly heredity are important. I would recommend probation that would depend on the seriousness of the offense. I've had no occasion to consider what probation would be in any particular case. I wouldn't believe in capital punishment. I always wonder, in cases of youthful crimes, what I would think if it were my child. I've been accused of being more strict on my child than necessary.

W. O. PARISH, Lineville, Ala., clothing manufacturer — I think first offenders should be placed on probation. The length of time should depend on the offense. If their parents can't furnish them with tasks about the home, then the city should give them work and recreation. If this were used as a preventive, there would be less crime committed by youth. If my son did something of a minor nature, I would first correct him by telling him what it would probably lead to in the future. He's at an age when a peachtree switch would be helpful.

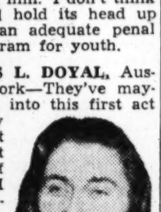

WILFORD PARISH, JR., Lineville, Ala., schoolboy—Boys and girls should be made to stay at home. If they were let out, they might get into more mischief. At home, we skate, play football, basketball and cowboys. It's all right to play if you don't get in a fight during the game. We play in our back yards, not on the streets. We're not allowed to wander out between the time school's out and supper time. If you stay at home and play, you won't get into trouble.

MRS. JOHN NICHOL, 1933 Piedmont Rd., N. E., steno-bookkeeper—It's more desirable to keep children with their parents rather than to send them to a school of correction — if the parents are capable of meeting probation requirements. Consulting a psychiatrist would no doubt prove helpful to both parent and child. Sunday School attendance would be most helpful, but there is a question in my mind if this attendance should be compulsory. There is often a belligerent attitude formed as a result of force.

ROBERT H. STRICKLAND, 2287 N. Decatur Rd., N. E., youth and recreation director, and chairman, Druid Hills Civic Association — I think that first offenders should be asked to report to proper authorities in a quiet, unpublicized way. I never think a youth is as guilty in his mind as his first offense may seem to the public. Oftentimes, a youth doesn't realize the gravity of his wrong deed until the final results are totaled and the law is after him. I don't think Georgia should hold its head up until she has an adequate penal correction program for youth.

MRS. DORIS L. DOYAL, Austell, clerical work—They've maybe been talked into this first act—misled. They really don't realize what they're doing. If my child (I have boys, seven and four years) did, I certainly would not want him put in jail. They should be punished lightly and made to realize that they did do wrong. Every other parent with children would feel the same way, I'm sure. Frankly, I think a child didn't have the proper home training if he destroys things.

Sentiment for Tax Cut Grows

Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J.—In reversing his last year's stand against tax relief, President Truman is reflecting a changed attitude on the part of the nation's voters toward income taxes.

Last June, when the President twice turned thumbs down on Republican tax slashing proposals, 53 percent of the Nation's voters polled by the Institute felt that the public debt should be reduced before the taxes were lowered. Only 38 percent voted for tax cuts.

Today, with the tax question destined to be a hot issue in the presidential campaign, the situation is almost exactly reversed. Now slightly more than half the voters feel individual citizens should receive "cost of living" cuts in tax loads despite the urgent need to aid Europe and reduce the public debt. However the preponderence of sentiment for tax cuts is still not overwhelming.

A nationwide survey of representative voters just completed by the Institute asked this question:

"Some people say we should reduce income taxes now because of the high cost of living. Others say we should not reduce taxes now because we must give food and other aid to Europe and reduce our national debt first. What is your opinion on this—do you think income taxes should or should not be reduced now?"

Should	51%
Should not	36
No opinion	13

A similar question asked last Spring brought this response:

Should Reduce Taxes	38%
Should Not	53
No Opinion	9

The public debt today is around $256,000,000,000, or $3,000,000,000 less than a year ago. The peak was reached at the end of February last year when it hit $278,000,000,000. Last year individuals paid $18,700,000,000 in taxes to the Federal Government and corporations $31,200,000,000.

Of the many fine talks given at the Press Institute in Athens last week, the one given by The Atlanta Constitution's distinguished editor, Ralph McGill, attracted the most listeners—he really packed them out into the aisles.

FINE TALKS

(Roper Simmons in The Madisonian)

Saturday morning, we had the privilege of hearing Editor Ralph McGill, of The Atlanta Constitution, in an address at the Chapel. We also attended the final session of the Institute, a luncheon, at which we heard the talented Constitution columnist, Harold Martin. Both men were gifted speakers and were well received by their audiences.

ALTAR STAIRS — By John Marvin Rast

But my God shall supply all your needs according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus.—Philippians 4:19.

Is your life tempestuous? Are you tossed about by high waves of uncertainty, anxiety, despair? There is help coming. God in Christ stands by. All the resources of Heaven and earth are at your command. Rescue and victory are this simple: moving forward by faith. The Master's own word we have that everything, whatever it be, that we ask for in our prayers, believing, we shall obtain. The only limitation is that the asking be in His name, His spirit.

We rejoice, Savior, that Thou art the answer to our quest. Thou alone art able to speak peace to our weariness. Not only are we assured of triumph through Thee, but of being more than conquerors. Send us forth now to witness joyously for Thee, and we will praise Thee for all things, even our cross.

Citation, Kentucky 'Cats Look Like 'Sure Thing'

It's beginning to look as if the two surest things in sport are Citation in the Kentucky Derby and Kentucky's basketball team in the Southeastern Conference tournament.

The sensational Calumet colt further established himself as the favorite for the necklace of roses in May with his easy six-length triumph in the Flamingo at Hialeah Saturday, the season's first big test for Derby eligibles.

The victory was his twelfth in 13 starts and immediately started tongues a-waggin' about a new Man o' War, a claim which perhaps is a bit premature.

Nevertheless, Owner Warren Wright's conservative estimate of the bay colt—"he's the best 3-year-old we've had at this time of year"—carries a lot of weight, considering he has owned such horses as Whirlaway, Armed, Pensive and Twilight Tear.

However, what happened to another Calumet horse, Faultless, could happen to Citation, although the former's two-year-old record is nothing like his young stablemate's. Faultless won this same Flamingo a year ago and finished third in the Derby—not a poor third, only a half length behind the winner, Jet Pilot—but nevertheless, third.

A lot of things could happen to Citation between now and May 1. And a lot more can happen during the running of the Derby.

But until they do, Citation is the "Peeple's Cherce" in the Peeple's Race..

Probable Odds The other "sure" thing in sport at the moment is the Kentucky basketball team.

The annual Southeastern Conference tournament starts Thursday and the perennial winners may be even better bets than Citation, who was 1-5 choice in the Flamingo.

Adolph Rupp's boys haven't lost a Conference game in the past three years and show no inclination of ending that streak, despite the general improvement of play over the League.

Here is the morning line on the field of 12 teams:

Team and Jockey—	Odds	Comment—
Kentucky, Rupp	1-5	Outclasses these
Tulane, Wells	7-2	Main threat
Tennessee, Lowery	5	Recent form good
Alabama, Burdett	10	May earn part
Ga. Tech, McArthur	10	Showing improvement
Georgia, Jordan	15	In and out
Auburn, Doyle	15	Not likely
*LSU, Rabenhorst	25	Hardly here
*Ole Miss, Whatley	25	Never close
*Florida, McAllister	25	Some improvement
*Miss State, Gregory	25	Outclassed
*Vanderbilt, Polk	25	Still a maiden.

*—Field.

Southern Statistics President Charlie Hurth contributes a bit of information on the Southern League of 1947, including an all-star infield based on fielding averages.

The second baseman? You guess it. Ben Steiner with a .966 average, better than the more publicized Al Kozar, Eddie Lyons and Stan Wasiak.

Others included George Byam, of Nashville, at first base, with a .995 average, the Loop's highest; Hal Quick, also of Nashville, at short, and Bill Hart, of Mobile, at third.

This infield was also quite adept at the plate, too. Byam's average was .333, Steiner .316, Quick .302, and Hart .276.

The "iron men" of the League were Mickey Rutner, of Birmingham; Cal Abrams, of Mobile, and Al Flair and Mel Rue, of New Orleans, all playing in every game for their team.

Atlanta's Charlie Glock was among four players who missed only one game. Others were Hal Jeffcoat, of Nashville; Ben Cantrell, of Little Rock, and Fred Hancock, of the Pebbles and Memphis.

Suggs, Byrd Defeat Didrikson, Besselink

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 29—(AP)—Louise Suggs, Atlanta, Ga., and Sammy Byrd, Detroit, Sunday defeated Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Didrikson Zaharias, Denver, Col., and Al Besselink, University of Miami star, 2 and 1, in an exhibition golf match at the Biltmore Club.

A crowd of about 2,500 saw Miss Suggs and Byrd win when Miss Suggs took a birdie two on the sixteenth and her partner birdied the 536-yard seventeenth to end the match.

Babe Ruth was honorary referee and went most of the first nine holes. The crowd gave the home-run king a tremendous ovation.

In individual match play, Miss Suggs and Mrs. Zaharias ended the day all even. Miss Suggs was 1-up at the turn and 3-up at the twelfth, but the Denver professional parred the next three holes to even the match. Miss Suggs dropped a 10-foot putt on the sixteenth but missed a five-footer on the seventeenth. Both missed putts on the final green.

Miss Suggs had 39-39—78, while Mrs. Zaharias toured the course in 40-39—79. Byrd and Besselink went out in 37s, two over par. Byrd had a 34 coming home for a par 71, while Besselink needed 35 to get home and a round of 72.

Baseball Is Here!—Majors Open Spring Training Today

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 29—(UP)—Spring fever—baseball variety—hit the nation Sunday as the 16 major league teams set up camp in palm-backdropped bases from Florida to California to begin preseason training Monday.

There were nine teams in Florida, six in the West and one in the Tropics.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, champions of the National League, were the only club training out of the country this year. With Manager Leo Durocher in command, a force of 25 Dodgers plus Club officials and newspapermen left La Guardia Field Sunday morning for the Dominican Republic.

Of the other National League clubs, Boston is at Bradenton, Fla.; Cincinnati at Tampa, Fla.; Philadelphia at Clearwater, Fla.; Chicago at Los Angeles, St. Louis at St. Petersburg, Fla.; Pittsburgh at Hollywood, Calif., and New York at Phoenix, Ariz.

In the American League, the champion New York Yankees were at St. Pete, Boston at Sarasota, Fla.; Washington at Orlando, Fla.; Philadelphia at West Palm Beach, Fla.; Detroit at Lakeland, Fla.; Cleveland at Tucson, Ariz.; St. Louis at San Bernardino, Calif., and Chicago at Hollywood, Calif.

The departing Dodgers seemed confident as they left for Ciudad Trujillo, even though the team was hardest hit by the inevitable holdouts which crash the headlines at this time of year.

Eddie Stanky and Pee Wee Reese from the infield and Catcher Bruce Edwards were still yelling for more money and it seemed definite that Stanky, at least, was still in there fighting. First Baseman Jackie Robinson and World Series Hero Cookie Lavagetto were not in the Dodger entourage, but have been signed and were granted permission to report late because of business reasons.

The Giants arrived in Phoenix Sunday, but Shortstop Buddy Kerr was not with the club. He reported to the train station when the club left New York Thursday, but, a holdout, he decided not to go to camp until he came to terms. Outfielder Bobby Thompson also is unsigned but he made the trip anyway.

Backs Shine In Bulldog Scrimmage

ATHENS, Feb. 29 — Georgia's Bulldogs wound up their second week of Spring practice here Saturday afternoon with a lengthy scrimmage in which fumbles were frequent and the running of Billy Mixon, Lukie Brunson, Floyd Reid and Johnny Tilletski were bright spots.

Mixon, who came to the Bulldogs from Tifton last Fall in time to spark the Georgia "B" club, is expected to give a boost to the left half spot, where Brunson and Billy Henderson hold forth.

Brunson, who is looked upon as the man who will start at left half next Fall, continues to improve.

Tilletski, another of last year's freshman, will give Veteran Al Bodine a battle for the starter's berth at full. Bodine is Georgia's best line backer in recent years, but hasn't shown as well as had been expected as a ball carrier. With the shift of Reid to half, and Spafford Taylor to end, the Bulldogs have only this pair, along with inexperienced Clif Hopp and still doubtful George Ford at full.

Score of 122 Wins Druid Hills Dogfite

A score of 122, shot by Dana Zoll, Bill McCoy, Al Bain and Charles Childs, won the Druid Hills dogfite Sunday afternoon.

Kirk, Dann Win Florida 2-Ball Meet

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 29—(AP)—Smooth-stroking Peg Kirk, of Findlay, Ohio, and Carl Dann, Jr., of Orlando, tourney favorites, defeated Mrs. Billie Harting, of Miami, and Pug Allen, of DeLand, Sunday to win the Florida Mixed Two-Ball Open Golf Tournament.

Approximately 2,500 spectators watched Miss Kirk and Dann close out the final match on the 33rd hole of a scheduled 36-hole round for a 4-and-3 victory.

Mrs. Harting and Allen were three-down twice during the morning round and finally squared the count on the 16th when Kirk and Dann had a bogey 5.

On the 19th hole Dann sent a chip shot from the lower edge of the first green straight into the cup to give his team a birdie three and a one-up advantage.

Mrs. Harting missed a short putt on the 20-hole to send Kirk and Dann ahead, two-up.

They halved 21, 22, 23 and 24, but Miss Kirk and Dann parred the 25th hole with a five to go three-up.

On the 27th Dann's drive was six feet from the pin. Miss Kirk's putt lipped the cup, but Dann sank his putt for a par three while the Harting-Allen duo took a four to lose the hole and send Kirk and Dann out four holes ahead.

The two teams halved the holes on the backside all the way around to the 33rd where Kirk and Dann got a par to close out the match.

As Expected, Wave and Vols Chase Cats Over Finish Line

Just as predicted, Kentucky, Tulane and Tennessee finished the Southeastern Conference basketball race in 1-2-3 order.

Too, they were seeded that way in the annual tournament starting Thursday at Louisville with Alabama as the fourth ranked team.

Alabama, however, presently holds fifth place in the standings, but can move into a fourth-place tie with Auburn by defeating Louisiana State Monday night. That game is the only remaining contest on the Conference slate, and is set for LSU's floor.

Georgia Tech, winner over Florida Saturday night, 63-55, and Alabama open the tournament Thursday at 2:30 p. m. (EST). Auburn and Tulane follow at 4:15 p. m. and the night schedule shifts to the bottom bracket for the Mississippi State-Tennessee and Kentucky-Florida games. The other four teams drew byes to enter the quarter-finals.

Kentucky, winner of the event nine times in 14 attempts, beat Xavier of Ohio, 59-37, to wind up its pre-meet schedule. In other Saturday night games, Mississippi beat Mississippi State, 63-46, to gain an even break in their annual four-game series, Tulane got revenge on Alabama, 37-29; Georgia swamped Clemson, 81-35; Vanderbilt beat Southwestern of Memphis, 61-37.

Kentucky went undefeated in nine League games, Tulane dropped only one of 14, and Tennessee lost only two of 12—both to Kentucky. Tulane was edged by Alabama, 50-49.

Bob Healey, of Georgia, led the scoring race with 374 points, second highest total in the League's fifteen-year history. Country Graham, of Mississippi, holds the all-time record of 504 points in 29 games in 1938. Healey played in 27 games.

Kentucky now has won 42 consecutive games with other Southeastern Conference teams. The Wildcats won the last four games of their 1945 season, and then won six games in 1946, eleven games last year and nine this year. Meanwhile, they won 12 tournament games.

Florida has entered only nine of the fifteen tournaments and tangled with Kentucky six times. The Gators beat the Wildcats only once—in 1934—and went on to the finals to lose to Alabama. That accounts for one of Kentucky's five defeats in 44 tournament contests.

Despite losing their last three League games this season, the Gators finished in seventh place and won 15 games, second highest total in their SEC history.

Georgia Tech gave up 873 points, just two short of the Conference record set by Auburn, and scored 834—thus leading in both columns. Mississippi State holds the all-time team high of 840 points set in 1943.

Tulane, had not Alabama won their first meeting, would have turned in the best won-lost record in Conference history. LSU set the record in 1935 by going undefeated in 12 League games.

In Friday's tournament pairings, Georgia meets the winner of the Georgia. Tech-Alabama game at 2:30 p. m., and Vanderbilt meets the winner of the Tulane-Auburn game at 4:15 p. m. In the two night games, Mississippi faces the Mississippi State-Tennessee survivor, and LSU takes on the Kentucky-Florida winner.

Morrison Rumored As New Yale Coach

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 29—(AP) Ray Morrison Sunday refused to confirm or deny published reports that he would become head football coach at Yale University.

Morrison completed his eighth season as coach of Temple University last Fall. His team won three and lost six last year.

Asked whether he would consider the job at Yale if it were offered him, Morrison replied: "The only fair thing for me to say is no comment."

Bulldogs Open Diamond Work

ATHENS, Feb. 29—Regardless of whom the University Athletic Board names head coach to succeed J. V. Sikes, Georgia's baseball team is slated to launch full scale drills Monday afternoon, with the season's opener three weeks away.

Batterymen have been working for some time, and Bob Still and Bob Callahan, Florida right handers, are still the top hurlers. Callahan was the Bulldogs' most successful pitcher last season while a freshman. Dick (Lefty) Miles, vet relief artist, returns, along with numeral winners Bill Cooper, Bill Davies and Joe Ferguson.

Elsewhere, veterans from last season's not-to-successful team are plentiful. Jim Gatewood and Howard Johnson return behind the plate. Then there are infielders Chub Jenkins, Eli Maricich, Virgil Bartlett, Hoakey Jackson, Paul Eskew, Spafford Taylor and Ed Bailey.

Holdovers in the outfield are Mort Smith, Billy Henderson, Thurmon Hopper and Jimmy Bagwell.

Joost Signs Pact With A's; 2 Holdouts

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 29—(AP)—Shortstop Eddie Joost has signed his 1948 contract, leaving only two important members of the Philadelphia Athletics—Barney McCosky and Elmer Valo—still unsigned.

Terms of Joost's contract were not disclosed, although it was understood it called for some increase over last year.

McCosky and Valo, both hard-hitting outfielders, are both in camp seeking to reach an agreement with Manager Connie Mack.

Decatur, Atlanta Teams Win in State Tourney

By BERT PRATHER

Jasper, Stone Mountain VFW, Woodbury Lions, Argonne, Clarkdale, Atlanta Rockets, Decatur, Brunswick and Atlanta Preps were the winners as the annual State Open basketball tournament got under way at the Sports Arena Sunday afternoon.

In the only game of the second round, Clarkdale walloped Stone Mountain, 77-47, to round out the opening slate. The victory advanced Clarkdale to the third round Tuesday against the winner of the Rebel-Jasper tilt. Griffin and O'Prey withdrew from the tourney, forcing the cancellation of two games.

Staging a last-half rally, Jasper eliminated Delta Air Lines, 34-33, with Charles Poole pumping in 19 points for the winners.

Argonne edged Stephens Sporting Goods, 42-38, in a nip-and-tuck affair. Herbert Sorrels and Elmer Coalson hit for 15 and 13 counters, respectively, to pace Argonne, while Dan Cooper and Rabbit Jordan, with 12 and 10, respectively, led the losers.

Stone Mountain eased by the Mableton Aces, 45-41, in one of the top games of the afternoon. Jim McCullough, collecting 16 points, was Stone Mountain's high pointer and Mac McCurry's 15-point total was high for the Aces.

In the only onesided contest of the first four tilts, the Woodbury Lions romped to a 56-32 triumph over the Newnan All-Stars. Paced by Princeton Hill, who plunked in 13 markers, Woodbury took the lead at the outset and was never headed.

The Atlanta Rockets rolled up the biggest score of the opening round, routing the Georgia Sporting Goods quintet, 67-32, as Baker flipped in 14 points. Klosterman, with 11, paced the losers.

Holding a slim lead most of the way, the Decatur Ramblers shaded the Cordele Rockets, 46-10, as Charlie Davidson found the range for 14 points for the winners. Claude Phillips hit for 11 to lead the losers.

Sparked by Turkey Kirk, who poured 27 points through the nets, the Atlanta Preps routed Acworth, 73-31, and established a tournament scoring mark. Kirk's total was the best individual effort of the opening round.

Fighting Murphy Five Wins in GIAA Race

Murphy High, of Atlanta, with a garrison finish, including a thrilling 35-32 victory over Smith High, climbed to the top of the GIAA basketball standings in the final week's play.

The Murphy five thus got revenge on the Smith team, which had led the chase for the past few weeks and was never far out of first place at any time. The loss dropped Smith into third place, a full game behind Benedictine, but gave them a softer spot in the annual tournament this week at Savannah.

The Smith five meets Decatur in the first round, while Murphy has to face the formidable Richmond Academy team. Both those games are in the upper bracket of the eight-team meet.

Benedictine beat Savannah last Monday to cop the City League title there, but Savannah won the Region Two elimination tournament at Augusta and Richmond took the runner-up spot. Lanier won the Region One meet at Macon by beating Columbus Saturday night, 47-30.

Columbus, which had eliminated Moultrie, 40-30, meets Savannah and Lanier faces Marist in the lower bracket at Savannah. Marist got into the tournament by beating North Fulton, 38-31, in Region Four's eliminations. Region Three's entries in the Savannah meet were determined on a percentage basis.

Savannah's win over Richmond was by two points, 40-38, in a overtime battle. Earlier in the double elimination meet, Savannah, the GIAA defending champions, beat Richmond, 38-33.

Pete Melton and Heymie Kaufman, both of Atlanta, will officiate in the Savannah event. Aldine Lasseter and Artemus Braddock, both of Perry, all alternate officials. The games will feature a return to the eight-minute quarters, instead of ten.

The Capitol Gun Club skeet and target shoots attracted 22 entries Sunday afternoon, with both events ending in deadlocks.

In the skeet shoot with added handicaps, Bob Autrey, Mrs. Clyde King, R. E. Gormley, Jack Eastland, Dr. Dave Smith and Earl Arrowood had 50x50 scores. Autrey was awarded the silver trophy by a flip of the coin.

H. J. Lewis, Ed Arlington, Mrs. Clyde King, Pete Barth and Clyde King tied in the target shoot, with Lewis receiving the trophy, decided in the same manner as the skeet shoot.

Brown, Womack Win

Frank Brown and J. A. Womack, Sr., shared the West End blind bogey Sunday afternoon with scores of 78. Paul Ford and W. T. Dean, Jr., were second with 72.

Little Wins Tourney at St. Pete

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 28 (AP) — Lawson Little, 37-year-old veteran golfer, shot his best round of the tournament to win the $2,000 top prize in the St. Petersburg Open Sunday. His 72-hole total was 272.

Bobby Locke's 64 gave him second place in the tournament, three strokes behind Bobby Little at 275. He had previous rounds of 68, 73 and 70.

Consistency in scoring throughout the four rounds was the keynote of Little's title-winning performance. He opened with 68 Thursday, and followed with 68, 68 and the final 67.

City League Grid Teams To Hold Six Weeks of Spring Training

By JESSE OUTLAR

Although basketball has just ended and baseball is around the corner, the seven City League schools aren't wasting any time. During the brief lapse, coaches are launching Spring football practice.

Pointing towards their second season after a successful debut this past year, all of the mentors are optimistic. They point out that most of the grid candidates were green last year, whereas this time they'll at least be schooled in the basic fundamentals when next September rolls around.

Brown, defending City League champs, has the fewest number of lettermen for the six weeks of Spring tutoring, and Coach J. E. DeVaughn is building from the ground up.

The Johnny Rebs lost their entire backfield, including Lawton Grant, voted the City's outstanding back, and a total of 17 monogram winners. Charlie Brannon is the only returning ball carrier who saw much action in '47, when the Rebs won seven, lost two and tied two. There's going to be a complete shuffle out West End way with all 11 positions wide open, according to DeVaughn.

Smith, which wound up second last season, has been knocking heads after two weeks, of drills, and Coach Cecil Moon seemed pleased over the early Spring work. The Smithies figure to be stronger in '48 despite the loss of End Doyle Kuglar, Center Maurice Thomas, Tailback Marvin Claborn and Tackle Glenn Blake.

With such fellows as Fullback Conrad Moon, expected to be tops this year, Halfback Sid Bonner, Guards Bobby Morris and Douglas Blackburn returning, Smith shapes up as a team to watch.

Coach Rufus Godwin's Grady eleven, the bad-luck team in '47, losing five and winning four when a few breaks would have reversed the record, starts work Monday. End Ken Ford, Tackle Frank Burns and Halfback Frank Arnau and Jack Kelly are a few of the returning vets around which the coming edition will be moulded.

Like his fellow mentors, Coach Godwin refuses to hazard a guess as to the possible league winner this year. But, like the other coaches, he thinks things will level off this year with all the boys benefitting from the first year's experience.

Murphy, with one of the top backfields returning along with some potentially strong linemen, could easily be the surprise package of '48. Although they dropped six out of nine last season, the Eagles finished with a rush and are expected to start the same way.

Quarterback Joe Willingham shouldn't have to take a back seat to any signal caller in the City and he'll have such fellows as Billy Nix, Gene Hess and Jack Hopkins as company in the backfield, insuring Murphy of one of the best array of leather luggers in the loop. Gene Dickerson at guard, Buck Bradberry at end, and Tackle Milford Bennett top the list of linemen.

The Eagles are already butting heads in full togs and Coach Eaves is satisfied with the progress made thus far.

Although Coach O. V. Bruner declines to make any advance statement on his team's chances this year, Roosevelt is definitely another dark horse candidate. With two weeks' practice under their belts, the Crimson Tide is whipping into shape. Fullback Richard Hayes and Tackle James Webster are two boys who have been outstanding in the brief skirmishes to date.

Only four lettermen were lost by graduation and a host of standouts such as Backs Johnny Truelove, Bob Dendy, Ray Newsome, Cecil Shirley and Ends Clem Knight and Johnny Carson will form the nucleus for this year's eleven. One thing is certain, the Tide will have a better record than two victories and seven setbacks this season.

Bass loses nine monogram winners, but has Jim Axtman, returning at center as a balance for the line and Backs Jim Ransbotham, Marshall Akers to mention a few of the standouts.

Coach Swede Phillips has been drilling the boys for a week, and says he'll know much more about his team after the next five weeks. Winner of only one game in nine starts last year, Bass is another team which is certain to improve its mark.

At O'Keefe, Coach Hank Langston isn't at all bashful about his team's prospects. The Irish dropped eight games in '47, and had to forfeit the lone contest they won.

Losing only two players, Langston is positive that his boys will be as improved as any in the league, and during the Winter banquet session, he served warning to the entire loop that O'Keefe is going to beat some people this year.

Tackle Marion Skinner, if his injured shoulder comes around, should be as good as any lineman in the City. Buck Lowery is gone from the backfield, but Buddy Rich, Jack Powell, Ben Perkins and several other promising ball carriers will be on hand to take over.

You can't pick Septembers winners in February, but you can tell that City League football will be about 50 percent better in '48.

Only 2 Phils Are Unsigned

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 29—(AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies' holdout ranks thinned to two Sunday as Emil Verban, Don Padgett and Ken Heintzelman agreed on 1948 contract terms.

Still without the fold are Eddie Miller, classy shortstop acquired from Cincinnati, and Outfielder Harry (The Hat) Walker, National League batting champion.

Manager Ben Chapman declined to consider Miller a holdout, however. The shortstop has not replied to the contract mailed him shortly after he came to the Phils in a trade for Outfielder Johnny Wyrostek and cash.

Owner Bob Carpenter said he has made his final offer to Walker and that The Hat will accept it or not play with the Phils.

Lesnevich Faces Fox

NEW YORK, Feb. 29—(AP)—Light Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich and Blackjack Billy Fox meet in another title fight Friday scheduled for 15 rounds. Few experts, however, expect the Madison Square Garden contest to go the full distance.

Fox, the hard-hitting Negro youngster from Philadelphia, has had 51 fights. He won 50 of them by knockouts and in the other was flattened by Lesnevich in 10 heats.

Their first fight was held in the Garden Feb. 28, 1947. Since then Fox has added seven kayos to his string. Lesnevich won all four of his fights last year.

Gus, named "Fighter of the Year" for 1947, may be in line for a heavyweight title bout this Fall if he wins decisively. The chances are that the Cliffside Park, N. J., veteran will knock out Fox again, probably in less time than previously.

Byron Cracks Track Record

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP)—Bob (Red) Byron, of Anniston, Ala., bettered the 29.2 stock car record for the Jacksonville Speedway here Sunday when he circled the half-mile track in 27.5 seconds.

The 29.2 mark was set by Ed Samles, of Atlanta, and is recognized as a world's record.

Fontello Flock, of Atlanta, captured the 25-lap feature of the day's program, nosing out his brother, Bob. Byron, favorite of the crowd, was third.

Cage Game Ends In Near Riot

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Feb. 29—(AP) Tempers which flared in the closing seconds of the Iowa-Minnesota basketball game, had cooled as the Iowa team prepared to leave Sunday for its title-deciding game with Michigan Monday.

The Iowa-Minnesota game, which Iowa won 54-50, wound up in a near riot as players' fists started flying in the last seven seconds of the game.

Fans started leaping onto the court and mixed in the fray. The band started playing the National Anthem. Iowa lettermen and University police restored order.

6 Braves Unsigned As Training Starts

BRADENTON, Fla., Feb. 29—(AP) Six players still remained unsigned Sunday as the Boston Braves prepared for the start of their Spring training tomorrow.

Included in the sextet are Veteran Right-hand Pitcher Johnny Sain and Rookie Twirler Al Treichel, another right-hander. Treichel, who tried out with the Braves in 1946, had a 14-15 record with the San Diego nine last year.

The others are Catcher Phil Masi, Utility Infielder Nanny Fernandez and Outfielders Mike McCormick and 'Bama Rowell.

Reds To Televise 34 Games This Year

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 29—(AP)—Thirty-four of the Cincinnati Reds' at-home games will be televised this season.

This was announced Sunday by Warren Giles, Club President. The Reds open Spring training here Monday.

Cincinnati television station WLWT will carry the games under sponsorship of a Queen City brewery.

Team Wants Games

The Gate City Cotton Mill amateur baseball team wants to schedule games with any team in the Atlanta area. Any interested team manager should contact Henry Phillips at CA. 2355.

Babe Young Signs Up With Cincinnati Reds

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 29 — (AP) — First Baseman Babe Young has signed his 1948 contract with the Cincinnati Reds, the club announced Sunday, leaving only one player on the training camp roster still out of the fold.

Unsigned is Johnny Vander Meer, veteran southpaw pitcher.

BIG FRENCH FASHION NAMES DOING VAST BUSINESS; SMALL FIRMS SUFFER

PARIS, Monday, March 1—(AP)—Top-flight fashion houses whose collections appeal to foreign buyers are doing record business.

Even so, everything isn't milk and honey in the fashion world. Houses that haven't much foreign following are complaining of a slump. It's the big names that are collecting the francs.

Pierre Balmain says happily that his sales, so far, are double what they were last season. He thanks the devaluation of the franc, which gave extra spending money to foreign buyers.

Christian Dior says business is so good he had to turn away nearly 60 orders from American buyers.

The attendance at the major collections is fantastic. Even now, three weeks after the openings, crowds hang over banisters to get a glimpse of the show. Hundreds of disappointed persons are turned away daily. These aren't casual passers-by trooping in to see an exhibition but folk who have the necessary business or social standing to gain entrance.

CHANNING COPE'S ALMANAC:

Farmers Should Eliminate Drudgery

MARCH 1ST, 1948

Suggestion of the day: This is 4-H Club Week, an occasion for celebration. Georgia is way out in front in membership in this fine organization for farm youths, having a membership of 118,000. There is no more important work than that of supporting the determination of boys and girls to make something of themselves. This is particularly true of rural youngsters. Our congratulations to Extension for having done such a magnificent job in Georgia.

Easy Is as Easy Does

To take the drudge out of farming should be the ambition of every person whose work is conditioned by the soil. That man should earn his bread by the sweat of his brow is not a directive to sweat in darkness. There can be fun in sweating if you're working at something worthwhile and those great men of the Bible knew this. There is no virtue in sweating just to be sweating and certainly none if you're burdened beyond your capacity. Edwin Markham's "Man With the Hoe" describes the farmer at his worst and if you've read this poem and digested its meaning you'll never want any part of farming such as Markham illustrates.

All of which leads us to repeat that easy farming is the best farming, all reports to the contrary. Only this morning we were reminded of this again as we watched the cattle grazing contentedly on the Kentucky 31 fescue. The process was so easy—you just opened the gate. Of course it took a little planning to have it that way, but everything worth doing calls for a little planning.

And speaking of planning, there comes to mind the easiest sort of livestock raising that requires but a minimum of planning. One turns the beef-type bulls in with his dairy-type cows along about June 1 and leaves them there until July 10. The result is that all of the calves arrive in March and April. This gives them 5 to 6 months to run with their mammies in the pastures and to grow into milk-fat-vealers by frost. These milk-fat-vealers bring more money than if they were kept over into the next year and sold as beef.

The advantages of this system are obvious. The calves are born when the grass is putting out and the weather not too cold and they have sufficient time to become vealers before the next Winter. Dairy-type cows produce more milk for the calves and hence the calves grow faster. Beef-type bulls give the calves better conformations and they put on weight faster.

The dairy-type cows should be sure breeders and free from Bangs Disease. It is safer if the cows have had at least one calf. The bull should be the best you can afford, for he is responsible for the conformation and the growth possibilities of the calves. Every five pounds he adds to a calf will mean another dollar bill for you. If a bull adds 50 pounds per calf in a herd of 50 cows, he has produced an extra 2,500 pounds of meat, and at 20 cents per pound this would amount to an extra $500. Thus one bull would be worth $500 more than another bull. Or even more.

One other thing: Now that we have Kentucky 31 fescue for SURE Winter grazing, the bulls could be put with the cows in May and the calves brought a month earlier. This would give them an added month's growth by Fall. Which wouldn't hurt a bit.

Plant that kudzu. Summer will be on us before we know it, and then it's too late.

Some people meet with us at 6 a. m. and 12:45 p. m.—Kudzu?

As ever,

Channing Cope

Rep. Christian A. They put it aside until they had time to decide what to do about it. Later a Second Republican vote showed up. "The son-of-a-gun voted twice! Throw them both out!" the election board rules.

Almost 40 Years Has Chas. N. Walker Been Installing Roofs in Atlanta

Satisfied Patrons Write Letters Most Complimentary

By PRESS HUDDLESTON

"We Top 'Em All," is not merely a slogan used for years by the Charles N. Walker Roofing Company, but it is really such a truism that for nearly 40 years it has carried this popular roofing concern right at the top of the peak in the construction and repairs of roofing in this city, and even throughout the State.

This concern established close on to half a century ago by Charles N. Walker, Sr., and still conducted by he and his son, Charles, Jr., constitutes a record of business integrity surpassed by few, if any, concerns in any line of endeavor in Atlanta.

The files in the office of the Company, located at 141 Houston Street, N. E., hold scores of letters and messages from thoroughly satisfied patrons concerning the many roofing jobs handled by the concern. An example of one of the many complimentary letters received from time to time is shown herewith. It is a letter from the Continental Gin Company, one of Atlanta's large industrial concerns, and tells of the highly satisfactory and commendable roofing jobs installed by the Walker Company practically 29 years ago and during the years until two years ago, when a fire destroyed the buildings, no repair work of any kind was needed on them. "And praise of your work being so highly satisfactory, we are asking that you reroof these buildings again," the letter concludes.

Due to the advantage the Walker Company has in its connection with nationally known roofing material manufacturers, the local concern has had no trouble in the past in obtaining all materials necessary for new roofs or for repair purposes.

Many of the former roofing mechanics who left to serve Uncle Sam in the late unpleasantness have returned and are among the excellent force of roofing men engaged at the Walker Company.

The company has made much of its success, not only through its applications of roofs, but in the use of the best of materials available. For 27 years it has used the well-known Logan-Long roofing shingles, and also Kopper's Company products for building up roofing on business buildings. The Company is bonded roofers for Koppers Company.

All in all, the Charles N. Walker Roofing Company is one of the outstanding companies of its kind in the South. Now, with the return of the junior Walker, and with a full force of expert roofing men, the personnel of the company is a guarantee of the satisfactory service assured those who need roofing work of any size or type.

Charles N. Walker, Sr., started his roofing concern in a small, modest way, and along in his first years he and his company grew in the estimation of property owners who needed new roofs or repaired roofs. So, also, was young Charlie Walker, the son, growing into and learing the details of the roofing industry. Young Walker liked the work his father was engaged in—he liked to spend time around the office keeping up with details, and he was always pleased when he could travel around with his father inspecting and directing the work of putting on a new roof or repairing an old one.

Thus it is that "like father, like son" is clearly evidenced in the conduct and growth of the Walker Roofing Company—and thus it was natural that the well-known slogan, "We Top 'Em All," was born and has added to the continued growth and progress of the company.

Mr. Charles N. Walker, President
Charles N. Walker Roofing Company
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Sir:

On October 7, 1919, you reroofed several buildings for us here in Atlanta, and signs were placed in each of them, stating that these buildings were done by Walker Roofing Company and is guaranteed for 10 years from above date.

This work was done some 27 years ago, and there has been no repair work on any of these roofs to this date.

On February 25, 1946, we had the misfortune of losing some of these buildings by fire, but building #32 was saved, and this was one of the roofs which you did in 1919; however, on account of the fireman climbing over this roof and dragging hose over same for about 24 hours makes it necessary to have this roof replaced.

And because of your work being so highly satisfactory, we are asking that you reroof this building again.

Yours very truly,
J. F. Smith

"Our diaper service," says Mr. Keith, "is equipped with the most modern washing machinery, guaranteeing your baby the best in sterilized diapers. Amazing, New Equipment for Gaston's Snapshots

Celebrating their Silver Anniversary, Gaston's Snapshot Service, Atlanta photo finishing firm, announces the installation of the newest thing in photo finishing equipment. In announcing the purchase of this new equipment (pictured here) Mr. S. B. Gaston said that it is one of the first of the Kodak Continuous Paper processors in the while U. S.

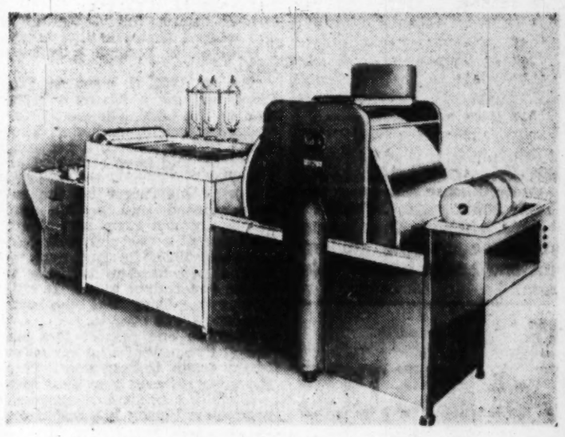

This almost miraculous machine is really two units, or groups of machines. There are the printers, which carry continuous rolls of photographic paper. Film in strips go into the printers, and by electronic action the correct exposure is automatically made to compensate for the varying density of the films. When the rolls of paper are filled, they are carried to the Continuous Processor, which carries them through the developer and fixing baths, in which the thermostatically controlled chemicals are kept at a constant temperature of 68 degrees. The machine then, in a continuous process, washes out the chemicals and sends the rolls to a drying and glossy finish drum from which the individual pictures are taken, cut apart and inspected to make sure they are proper for delivery to the customer.

March 1 marks 25 years of continuous growth and progress for a business which started in a small one-room, upstairs place on South Broad Street, Atlanta. Founded by Hugh H. Lyle and Samuel Britt Gaston in 1923, the firm has grown to the point where they occupy 7,500 square feet in spacious quarters at 14 Alexander St. Serving 750 dealers throughout the South, Gaston's also has a plant in Birmingham.

The new equipment will substantially increase Gaston's present capacity of 40,000 prints a day. This means still faster and better service to the hundreds of druggists and camera shops who are Gaston's dealers and the thousands of camera owners who are their customers.

THE ROLL PRINTER, which electronically gets the most out of each negative.

THE DEVELOPER, through which the rolls of prints pass, to emerge again in rolls at the other end. The pictures are then cut from the rolls. New equipment added to Gaston's Snapshot Service.

New Machine Shop Installed By Hotel, Restaurant Supply

A complete new machine shop which is capabl of turning out all sorts of restaurant and kitchen supplies has been installed by the Hotel and Restaurant Supply Company, making this one of the best-equipped shops of its kind in the South.

George Sparks, who acquired wide experience in mechanics while in the service, shares honors with his brother, John Sparks, in planning and operating the business. Five other veterans of World War II also are now with the staff. They are A. R. Tracy, Charles Garrett, Alfred Camp, Jim Metrangos and John Morris.

2 Bandits Get $35,000 At Louisville College

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 29—(AP)—Two men escaped this morning with more than $35,000 in checks and cash after they were surprised in the act of robbing the safe and vault at the University of Louisville.

Dr. John W. Taylor, University President, reported the men fled as his Secretary, Miss Eleanor Turner, was calling police. She saw the robbers when she investigated pounding she heard in the building where she was working, Taylor said.

Taylor said loot included $33,000 in personal, pay roll and Government checks, and $2,333 in cash.

Police were unable to find any clues. The men had locked the cashier's cage and apparently left hastily. They left behind $164 in coins.

N. Y. ESCAPEE RECAPTURED

HERKIMER, N. Y. — (UP) — Charles de Carr, 36-year-old prisoner who sawed his way out of the Herkimer County jail, surrendered to State Police and Sheriff's men when they trapped him in the haymow of a barn.

Authorities said De Carr was hiding on the farm of his brother, A. E. de Carr, at Fairfield, about 15 miles from here. Found with him was 19-year-old Ivy Youker, of near-by Newport, described as his "girl friend." She was jailed on a charge of aiding a prisoner to escape.

Sheriff Leslie Hoffman said the prisoner showed no resistance when the posse called on him to surrender. He said Miss Youker admitted giving De Carr the saws he used to cut through three bars on a second-story shower-room window when she visited him at the jail.

WIFE KILLER HUNTED

HEBER SPRINGS, Ark.—(AP)—Posses of citizens, State Police and neighboring sheriffs hunted unsuccessfully for Obra Martin, 33, wanted, Sheriff Alton Bittle said, for fatally shooting his wife and wounding her attorney here.

The wife, Mrs. Lucille Martin, 22, was killed by a shot fired through a screen door while she was conferring with her attorney, former State Sen. Gene P. Houston, at his home.

Sheriff Bittle said Houston and his wife, who was in the room, both named Martin as the man who fired the shots.

Martin was shot and slightly wounded Dec. 27 and Mrs. Martin was to have been tried in Cleburne County Circuit Court Monday on a charge of assault with intent to kill in connection with the shooting.

FROM RAILS TO ROSES

L&N Conductor Quits; 43 Years of Service

By WELLINGTON WRIGHT

After 43 years with the L. & N. Railroad, 42 of them as a conductor, William B. Pinson retired from the service Sunday and went home to look after his roses.

He finished his last run as he brought the Knoxville local into the Union Station. When he stepped from the train he said:

"I like railroading just as much as I did when I started out in 1905, but after all, I must have more time to look after my roses."

Pinson, who lives at 856 Greenwood Ave., N. E., says he has been a rose fancier all his life. He cultivates them in his yard.

Born at Ellijay, the son of a country storekeeper, Pinson says he has liked railroading since he saw his first railroad engine.

"When I was a boy, we lived not far away from the line of the old Marietta & North Georgia Railroad, the predecessor to the L&N," he explained. "That road had a famous engine, the 'Little Mary,' and when I first saw that engine I resolved to become a railroad man.

"So, in 1905, I went to Blue Ridge and got a job as a brakeman on the L&N. The next year I became a freight conductor. Then, about 1925, I became a passenger conductor and have remained one since."

During his career on the rail road, Pinson said he has gone through almost every sort of accident except a rear-end collision.

"About 1920," he continued, "we had a bad head-on collision between two freight trains. It killed five men. That was the worst accident I was ever in.

"But, in one respect I've been lucky: I've never had a car on one of my trains to turn over. That's the thing railroad men most fear."

Since he became a passenger conductor, Pinson has had charge of some famous trains, like the Southland and the Flamingo. He took over the Atlanta-Knoxville local last year.

"It's all in a day's work," he said. "In my time, I've seen a lot of changes in the railroad world, the Diesel-driven engine, for example. Maybe it's such changes that made this job so fascinating to me. But, anyway, I still think that railroading is a fine business. It still offers big opportunities for the right sort of men."

The fatality victim was David Hill, pilot of the plane. Robert Horstmeyer, 22, is in a critical condition in a hospital.

GermansCrack Heavy Water Bootleg Ring

MUNICH, Germany, Monday, March 1—(AP)—U. S. Public Safety officers disclosed Sunday that German police have smashed a ring bootlegging heavy water, used in atomic experiments.

Identities of those arrested—some of them non-German—were kept secret. Authorities said this was done because further developments are expected.

American officials are interested in the case because they hold the relation of heavy water to atomic energy lifts it out of the local German category.

German police said eight aluminum flasks of heavy water were salvaged from Norway despite British wartime commando raids which smashed German testing equipment there.

The flasks were brought to Munich University in 1945, they said. A science professor buried them in his garden but was killed by a shell a few days later.

The professor's wife remembered the flasks two years later and last year made a deal to sell each flask for 40,000 marks ($4,000). A Yugoslav contact man was reported to have turned a sample over to a Spanish chemist, who found the heavy water to be genuine.

In Washington, the Atomic Energy Commission displayed no great concern over the case. A spokesman explained that "heavy water" is not used in U. S. nuclear fission research, although it is in some countries.

How Baby-Sitting Came Into Being

By DORIS LOCKERMAN,
Woman's News Editor.

Don't try to explain about baby-sitters in the tiny interval between dessert and coffee. A lady who had gone to Sydney, Australia, with her husband in 1939 and had just reached Stateside again, would need a great deal of briefing on how this industry really happened.

The baby sitter has a remarkable origin in world-shattering events. You would have to begin with the prewar boom when . . . let's see, we were "the Arsenal of Democracy" . . . and domestic servants began to drift away to better jobs.

Prices began to rise and what happened to raise the figures on price tags in grocery stores would take hours to tell, even if you had kept up as you went along. Then the war came, and allotments began to come home from husbands and sons in the service. The domestic servant disappeared. So did "Situations Wanted, Female." It might be better to skip tactfully over the "Disappointed Club" era.

Then the 40-hour-week idea precluded engaging a "household helper" who would consider staying through dinner. In-bound trolleys at 5 o'clock were jammed with bright-eyed workers who had finished their duties.

Suddenly, the prices demanded did not fit the family budget. The war ended and jobs were plentiful for men. The market was still out of reach for all of us middle-class people.

Through the war years the baby sitter dawned upon us. The emergency produced the remedy. At first it was a neighbor boy or girl. Then it became a business. Names of reliable sitters were passed through neighborhoods by word of mouth advertising.

Now the baby sitter has become a recognized element in every community. Her wages have been listed on income tax returns. Some of them even have asserted themselves by eloping with husbands or charming wives away from their hearthside.

The baby sitter is a part of the world evolution. . . . Don't try to explain it in a short chat with an expatriate who was away while the baby sitter was being brought forth.

The Case Against Blue Jeans

Papa was obdurate, as they say.

"No, I told you!" he shouted, "Mary Lou positively cannot wear her blue jeans today. Not this morning, not this noon, not this afternoon. I am tired and this is my day off and I demand some peace and quiet."

It seemed a funny thing to infer about blue jeans.

Until Mary Lou put them on anyway.

Then, in less time than it took to slip out of her size seven pinafore into a pair of thin-hipped levis, Daddy's little paper doll turned into a thunderbolt. She took a flying leap toward the sofa, landed in a bellyflop on a pillow, yowling like a banshee. She grabbed up a book, tossed it toward a window, strewing an innocent family of dolls living within its papers, helter-skelter into the air. She lunged for a yo-yo, missed, and slumped to the floor. She leaped toward a dry sink, grabbed a soft drink bottle and yelled shrilly: "Eve'body come to my beer joint! We got whiskey and soda!"

It was an astonishing revelation, second only to the shock of seeing Fredric March turn from Dr. Jekyl to Mr. Hyde.

And easily the best case against blue jeans I've seen.

Now I know what they mean when they say clothes make the man. They are also likely to make the man out of the woman, and that Daddy doesn't like!

Short Cuts

Photos by Prene

Scissors are snipping in all the hairdressing salons these days. Here is the short look, blonde and brunette versions. In the paler version, soft side waves frame the face and the hair is turned up all around. Right, the hair is cut very short at the temple line and tapered to the back where it is long enough to turn up coquettishly.

WHITE COLLAR GIRL

Husbands Not Butlers

By TRILLE GERMON

My telephone rang the other night and the voice of a lady I didn't know came over the wire. She introduced herself as MRS. C. E. SHULTZ, a reader of our column, and before the conversation was over, I realized she knew via the papers, all of our local columnists, as well as those known nationally .

She talked of them as if she knew them personally, mentioning their views on questions of importance, their style of writing and her personal reaction to the same. Among other things, she said, "I read all the columns carefully and it leaves me very little time to read fiction in magazines and books."

Mrs. Shultz wanted to ask me a question on etiquette. I thought to myself: "Oh, my goodness! This is it. I probably won't know!" Here is the question, and do YOU know the answer? "If you and your husband are entertaining at home, is it mandatory for you, as the hostess, to rise and receive guests at the door, especially if the guest is a man?"

Her answer was "Yes," and the friend with whom she had the discussion said, "No, because under no circumstance does a lady have to rise for a man." I agree with Mrs. Shultz that the gracious thing to do, if your are hostess, is to receive the guests, male or female, at the door with your husband. Husbands aren't butlers, you know!

"Are you a White Collar Girl, Mrs. Shultz?" I asked. She laughed gaily and said, "No, honey, I'm a short, rather fat-old-lady, over 60 years old!" "But Mrs. Shultz," I persisted, "you don't SOUND old." To which she replied, "Everyone tells me I don't look sixty, but I tell them, 'neither does a BALOON!' "

PERSONAL OBSERVATION: I think Mrs. Shultz' secret in keeping young-looking and young-sounding is keeping an intense interest in things going on in the world, and having a sense of humor that laughs AT herself and WITH the world!

FOUND—AN APARTMENT

EFFIE PAGE, who is employed by U. S. HOFFMAN MACHINERY CORPORATION is a very happy girl these days. Effie and husband, Douglas, have just rented a garage apartment and after-work-hours and on weekends are busily engaged in "fixing it up" to be their very own home and to reflect their individual tastes. "Just think," says Effie, "we have been married 15 months and this is the very first apartment we have had. We have so many wedding presents, still unused, and it is going to be wonderful. Our apartment is like having a cabin in the woods. We have the whole of Fernbank Forest at our front door!"

Are you asking, "How did you find such a place?" I did and the answer was simple: "We advertised in The Constitution and offered to give references!" People back home in Valdosta will remember Effie as EFFIE MYDDELTON. Yes, she is the same girl you knew at Bessie Tift, and you're welcome for telling you whatever-happened-to-her!

Are you planning a shower for a bride? I did one time, and being tired of the usual contests and games, I decided to add a few surprise quirks to the party. I wrote my invitations in rhyme and had them mimeographed. In the rhyme, I asked each guest to write a short letter of advice to the bride-to-be on "How to manage your husband," and to bring this letter to the shower. A prize was to be given to the best. To a woman, the happily-marrieds, the widows, the divorcees and the bachelor girls rallied to the scheme. The letters were read by the writers and some were funny, some serious and some ridiculous.

HUBBY HEARD EARFULL

What the girls didn't know was this: The judges consisted of the bridegroom and several of the husbands and boy friends of the girls present, who were being entertained privately in my husband's den. One girl nearly had heart failure when she saw her own husband among the judges. You see, she had given all of her pet woman's-ways on how to let her husband have her own way.

One girl told how to keep down family discord about paying too much for clothes. Her scheme was to save on household expenses and then when shopping for clothes, buy bargains—the bargains to consist in some instances of that dress-you-can't-live-without, but which costs too much. You simply take a red pencil when you get home and mark through the original price and mark if down to fit your budget. You pay the difference out of the secret fund you have saved from the housekeeping money! You may have to wait on this scheme until food prices go down!

And, oh yes, the shower party idea I mentioned above works equally as well for a stork shower. Simply change the letter to read, "How to Rear a Baby."

Remember the old saying that everyone knows best how you should "raise" your children—maiden aunts best of all. This gives them a chance to tell you!

WCG's will be interested to know this: In planning a party, you can buy sandwiches of all kinds, shapes and fillings, fixed up in the best-dressed party manner. They are economical and good, and a life-saver to those of us who like to entertain but often are rushed for time. Don't stay up too late at your party now! You KNOW how sleepy you will be in the morning while the boss is dictating!

Answer—You must believe in preparing well in advance for the big spring thaw? Sulfur and molasses is mildly laxative, nothing more, so far as we know. If the sulfur is pure it would be harmless to the child—merely a laxative.

Dr. Westlake To Address GSA Meet

Forty-five thousand children in Georgia need speech correction. Sixty-five percent of them suffer from a simple problem called oral inactivity, more than half of which could be corrected in public schools.

This situation is already familiar to members of the Georgia Speech Association, which for 18 years has been working toward a goal of trained speech teachers operating as visiting instructors in certain circuits where correction is indicated.

The GSA, an auxiliary of the Georgia Education Association, will meet in Atlanta this week, as a subsidiary division of the GEA Convention, to consider the problem of speech, including stuttering, cerebral palsy, aphasia, cleft palate and many nervous disorders.

Dr. Harold Westlake, Associate professor of Audiology of Northwestern University, who will appear Thursday morning at the GEA meeting, will make two addresses before the Speech Association members.

He will be principal speaker at a banquet Friday night at Agnes Scott Alumnae House, and will appear again at 9:30 a. m. Saturday in the Sky Room of the Municipal Auditorium speaking on the subject, "Speech Correction."

Other speakers on the two-day program will include Marcus Bartlett, WSB; Leighton Ballew, University of Georgia, who will speak at 3 p. m. Friday in the Sky Room of the Auditorium.

Three one-act plays from grammar school, high school and college levels will be given at 8 p. m. Friday in Presser Hall, Agnes Scott, by The Edith Russell Children's Theater, The Henry Grady High School Players and the Agnes Scott Blackfriars.

Criticism and Discussion will be led by Harold Douglas, Atlanta Division, The University System of Georgia; Dr. Frank Belyeu, Atlanta Theater Guild; Miss Jaquelin Gullatt, Atlanta, Civic Theater, and Miss Edna West, Georgia State College for Women.

Saturday, following Dr. Westlake's address, Miss Louise Sawyer, Georgia State Woman's College, will preside at a reading exhibit from high school and college levels, with Miss Carolyn Cook, Wesleyan College; Miss Lois Secor, Brenau, and Mrs. William Raoul, West Georgia Teachers College, leading criticism.

Miss Ruth Draper, Washington Seminary, will preside at Friday morning's meeting; Mrs. W. W. Davidson, president of the Speech Association, and Dr. J. R. McCain, Agnes Scott College, will preside at the Friday evening meeting. Miss Sue Craig, Payne College, will preside at the Saturday meeting.

ANSWERS TO SUNDAY'S QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠K 7 2 ♥A 8 3 ♦A 6 4 ♣J 5 3 2

The bidding has proceeded as follows:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 spade	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Some vigorous bid is in order to indicate to partner that you have a maximum pass. The best bet is a jump to 3 no trump. This will describe a well balanced hand that was fractionally short of an opening bid to start with.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠7 4 3 ♥9 2 ♦J 7 5 ♣A 8 6 4 3

The bidding has proceeded as follows:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	Double	Pass	2 clubs
2 hearts	2 no trump	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—It is true that this is not a very impressive looking hand but partner has bid in such a manner as to indicate that his hand is as good as an opening two no trump bid, since, as far as he is concerned, you may have nothing. Assuredly you have more than enough to raise an opening two no trump bid to three. Therefore, you should be willing to raise in this case.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠— ♥Q J 10 7 5 ♦Q J 10 8 ♣K Q J 9

The bidding has proceeded as follows:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 heart	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—A drastic bid is in order so that the impression created by your previous pass may be wiped out. This hand has enormous possibilities if partner's hand doesn't contain two losing diamonds. You should bid either four hearts (since a jump to three after your previous pass is not forcing) or make a jump shift to three clubs intending to support hearts later. My own preference is for the latter bid.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠A J 6 ♥J 9 8 5 ♦A K 6 2 ♣7 3

The bidding has proceeded as follows:

East	South	West	North
1 club	Double	Pass	1 spade
2 clubs	?

What do you bid now?

A.—You have a minimum hand for a takeout double and should not take any voluntary action at this point. If partner has any values he is at liberty to proceed. It would be highly improper for you to raise the two spades, placing partner in jeopardy if he has a weak hand. Furthermore, partner may have a secondary heart suit which he can show at the level of two, which you would like much better.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠K Q J 9 3 ♥K Q 8 4 ♦K 6 ♣K 5

The bidding has proceeded as follows:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Partner has shown a very strong hand by bidding first clubs and then diamonds at the increased level. There is hardly any doubt that you can make a slam but if partner has all the aces you should be able to visualize thirteen tricks. A Blackwood bid is, therefore, in order on this hand and if partner shows off four aces you should contract for seven no trumps. If he shows only three aces you will have to be satisfied with six no trump. The leap from two diamonds to four no trump will be clearly recognized by partner as a Blackwood bid since in this sequence you are not necessarily indicating a desire to play no trump.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠K 6 4 ♥— ♦A K Q J 10 7 ♣K 9 7 3

The bidding has proceeded as follows:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	3 hearts	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Partner has made an immediate slam try without any support for your suit. He must, therefore, have an overpowering hand and the suggested call is six diamonds. You are protected against the loss of two tricks in any one suit because the opening lead comes up to you. Your partner will realize you have solid diamonds and the kings in the other suits because if you had aces you would be at liberty to show them at this point. If, therefore, partner holds both black aces and a good heart suit he will be in a position to bid a grand slam for you.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠A K J 10 7 ♥K 5 ♦7 6 2 ♣Q 10 4

The bidding has proceeded as follows:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—You have a good substantial opening bid with the king of hearts promoted in value. Partner has opened the bidding and made the strongest kind of jump. We therefore suggest that you contract for a slam in hearts.

Q. 8—As North you hold:
♠A Q J 8 7 4 ♥K Q 6 ♦K Q 3 ♣4

The bidding has proceeded as follows:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Despite partner's previous pass, there should be a very good chance for a slam if partner holds two aces. It will then depend, at worst, on the spade finesse. The suggested bid is five spades. This should make it clear to partner that you are interested in aces since, if you had any side aces, you would, no doubt, take time out to show it. While a Blackwood bid at this point would be very convenient, unfortunately it is not available in this sequence because a bid of four no trump at this point would not be considered as a Blackwood call but as a raise of the no trump bid beyond game, inviting partner to proceed if he had a maximum no trump. This hand is actually the match to the hand in the first question—as you will see partner should accept invitation of five spades and proceed to a slam.

New '48 Model Cadillac Goes On Display Today

A new conception of automotive luxury and functional beauty in the modern manner will be shown Atlantans today when the 1948 Cadillac goes on display at Capital Automobile Company, 796 West Peachtree St., N. W.

The new Cadillacs, embodying and enhancing postwar trends while retaining the traditional Cadillac dignity, emphasize length and sleekness in the side-approach.

In the frontal approach, the new cars feature a road-hugging lowness and massive width. The radiator grille is lower and wider. Headlamps are recessed in the upper portion of the front fenders. Front bumpers are heavier for added protection and are used to highlight the basic approach pattern and follow fender contours closely.

The new Cadillac also features curved windshild glasses which give a greater arc of vision and smoother exterior contours. Chrome wipers fit the curved glass.

The car's interior, always luxurious and comfortable, this year include a completely inclosed instrument panel, increased window area, new upholstery fabrics and leather, wider seats, more leg room and innovations in the use of chrome and leather tirm.

DEAF-MUTE JAILED

Stabbing Ends Silent Quarrel

GALESBURG, Ill., Feb. 29 (AP) — Police Chief Paul W. Holmes said Sunday that a silent quarrel between a Galesburg man and his wife, both of whom are deafmutes, resulted in stabbing of the woman Sunday.

In the Knox County Jail, charged with assault to kill, is Jack Pittman, 22. His wife, Laura Inas, 20, was treated in St. Mary's Hospital for knife wounds in the chest and back.

Holmes said Mrs. Pittman, who is unable to speak, charged in a written statement that her husband had attacked her with a pocketknife during a dispute in sign language. She wrote, Holmes said, that she wanted a child and her husband did not.

28,800 EGGS

Officials Wait Best Chicken Hatching

EASTON, Md., Feb. 29—(UP)—The chicken-of-tomorrow, a tasty bird with bigger drumsticks and more white meat, was resting comfortably Sunday in a hatchery.

Actually, the famed fowl was, at the moment, a mere egg. And no one knew just which one of 28,800 eggs it was.

All of the eggs were ceremoniously placed in incubators after they had been shipped here by 40 leading chicken breeders in all parts of the country, competing in the chicken-of-tomorrow contest.

The contest has the official blessing of the U. S. Agriculture Department. It is being financed by a leading food-store chain, which has offered $7,000 in prize money to the breeders who develop a "superior meat-type chcken."

The competition has been under way for more than two years, with regional and state-wide trials in 44 states. The breeders who sent eggs to Easton were the "finalists."

The eggs will be hatched by March 21. The super-chicks then will be raised under identical conditions for a 12-week period. The fabulous fryers will be rated as to their meat characteristics, feed consumption, growth, and mortality rate.

On June 21, at the tender age of three months, the chicks will end their brief but brilliant career in a central dressing plant. The judges will take a final look and pick the winner—or at least, the winner's carcass.

Atlantan Held In Cedartown Man's Death

Constitution State News Service.

CEDARTOWN, Feb. 29 — B. C. Smith, 26, 295 Clark St., Atlanta, has been arrested by Atlanta police at the request of the GBI in connection with the death here of Edward Wood, 27, Sheriff F. C. Brannon reported Sunday.

The Sheriff said five other men also are being held in the case pending Grand Jury action. They were listed as three brothers, James, Edward and Howard Wilson, Fred Boling and Jack Baldwin. Smith will be returned to Cedartown, the Sheriff said.

Wood disappeared on the night of Dec. 13, and his body was found in a river near here Jan. 1.

Smith was working at a roadhouse near Cedartown when Wood came to the place and an argument followed. Wood left and was not heard of until his body was found.

GRAND JURY PRESENTMENTS

JANUARY-FEBRUARY TERM, 1948

Hon. E. E. Pomeroy,
Judge, Fulton Superior Court,
Atlanta, Georgia.

We, the members of the January-February, 1948 Term Grand Jury, respectfully submit herewith to the Court the Jury's Presentments:

I. CITY AUDITORIUM

We recommend that the Rules and Regulations for the operation of the Municipal Auditorium include the following:

(a) That after any engagement for the use of the Auditorium has been booked and confirmed by the Manager or Assistant Manager of the Auditorium, no such date or dates be cancelled, exchanged or postponed without the approval of the Auditorium and Athletics Committee of the Atlanta City Council.

(b) That the Auditorium and Athletics Committee should prescribe for the management more definite regulations and directions as to the general schedule of bookings and engagements at the Auditorium and the prices to be charged for the use of the Auditorium.

(c) That regular monthly meetings of this Committee be held and that Minutes of these meetings be kept and monthly reports of all the operations of the Auditorium shall be presented to the Committee.

(d) Further, it is the opinion of this Grand Jury and we recommend that this Committee of Council should assume and be held responsible for the operation and management of the Auditorium.

II. NEGRO POLICE

This Grand Jury wishes to express their approval and to offer their support to the adopted policy of the officials of the City of Atlanta to employ carefully screened and trained Negro policemen to patrol the Negro areas of the City of Atlanta.

We also wish to express approval of the establishment of a Negro precinct station for them to work from, similar to the ones used in Savannah, Miami, and other Southern cities.

We feel that this is a step forward in law enforcement amongst the Negro race, and should result in more respect of the law in our City and State.

We call upon all Departments of the City and County, and the various civic groups and individuals to aid in seeing that this experiment is given a fair trial and made a success.

III. MENTAL CASES

The need for the immediate establishment of a Psychopathic Ward at the Grady Hospital has been completely established, beyond any doubt. In fact every competent recognized authority in this progressive community, who is in any way concerned with mentally affected persons, particularly in their initial stages, has termed it imperative to our future social stability.

In the light of current conditions, this Grand Jury recommends that nothing should prevent the prompt establishment of this type of medical facility.

IV. PHYSICAL PROPERTIES

It is the observation of this Grand Jury that certain of the county buildings do not conform to the Building Code, a specific example being the County Courthouse in which the elevators are not provided with inner safety gates and inner-locking devices. Moreover, the stairs and other means of exit do not conform with the newly-established regulations pertaining to the principles of exit safety. It is, therefore, the strong recommendation of this Grand Jury that the buildings of the Fulton County Government be made to conform in all respects with the regulations of the Building Code as soon as practicable.

This Grand Jury has observed voting machines stored in the halls of several floors in the Courthouse. These machines are very heavy and have resulted in cracking the walls in many places, injuring the building, and we think this should be stopped. We recommend that adequate facilities be provided for the storing of same.

V. NO PROBATION FOR REPEATERS

Like the previous Grand Jury we recommend that our courts discontinue the practice of granting probation to repeater criminals.

VI. THREE-TIME CONVICTIONS

We recommend that the Fulton County Delegation to the incoming General Assembly be requested to introduce a bill whereby three convictions of a felony or misdemeanor shall automatically require the maximum penalty provided by law and that such sentence be beyond recourse of probation, parole or pardon.

VII. DRUNK DRIVERS

It has been called to our attention that the Appellate Courts of Georgia have held that the Recorders Court does not have jurisdiction in cases of drunken driving. It is also reported to us that some of the Recorders Courts and Mayors Courts of Fulton County take jurisdiction over such cases and impose fines on those found guilty of such violation. We recommend that this illegal practice be immediately discontinued, that all such cases be bound over to the Criminal Court of Fulton County in order that uniform punishment may be administered to all offenders alike.

We recommend the enactment of a law fixing the minimum punishment in cases of conviction for driving an automobile under the influence of intoxicating liquors or drugs for the third offense be the suspension of the driver's license for one year and a straight sentence in jail or the Public Works for not less than twelve (12) months and a fine of not less than Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars.

VIII. CRIME PREVENTION COMMITTEE

We recommend that the work of the Citizens Crime Prevention Committee, composed of sixty-one outstanding business, religious, labor and civic leaders in the metropolitan area, be continued.

IX. COMMENDATION

We commend the police officers and investigators for the efficient manner in which they presented the cases to the Grand Jury.

X. COMMENDATION OF SOLICITOR GENERAL

We wish to commend the Solicitor General and his staff for the efficient, impartial and courteous handling of the affairs of their office and the service to the Grand Jury.

XI. PUBLICATION

We recommend to the Court that these Presentments be published in The Atlanta Constitution, The Atlanta Journal, Atlanta Daily World, and the Fulton County Daily Report, together with Special Presentments, dated February 20, 1948, relating to the supervision of Nursing Homes.

This the 27th day of February, 1948.
Respectfully submitted,
FULTON COUNTY GRAND JURY

SPECIAL PRESENTMENT

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY.
TO THE SUPERIOR COURT OF SAID COUNTY:

We, the Grand Jurors selected, chosen and sworn for the January-February, 1948 Terms, of said County, respectfully submit the following Special Presentment, to-wit:

It has been brought to our attention through the public press that private nursery homes and private boarding homes for children are operated without supervision from any public official. This practice lends itself to occasional cruel practices toward the children of such institutions. The operator of one such boarding home has recently been convicted in the Criminal Court of Fulton County.

WE RECOMMEND that the Licensing Department of the County of Fulton and the City of Atlanta immediately inaugurate adequate requirements for the issuance of licenses to any person for the operation of all Old People's Homes, Children's Homes, Invalids' Homes, Nursing Homes, either public or private, and that none be issued to persons with previous criminal records or unsavory reputations.

WE FURTHER RECOMMEND that the City Council of the City of Atlanta enact an ordinance requiring periodical inspections of all such institutions in the City, not only for fire hazards, sanitary conditions, but as to the treatment of the children living in such institutions.

This the 20th day of February, 1948.
